This book explores the relationship between imperial formations and individual encounters at African tourist sites spaces of leisure healing and work It examines how encounters between tourists and hosts tend to be constructed along colonial thought lines and considers how players in the hospitality industry do not interact as coeval participants but are racialised scripted and positioned according to colonially established order The authors focus on the language of these encounters not only speech performance and response but also silence resonance emptiness noise objectified materialised evasive and confusing Through its exploration of language in these encounters the volume shows that ruination is the one feature that is omnipresent in the multiple and diverse tourist settings of the postcolonial world This book is open access under a CC BY ND licence Visitors' Guide to Kenya Philip Briggs,1995 A guide to Kenya and East Africa which describes how to get there what to see when there how to get around the country and where to stay This book includes suggested itineraries to help the
