

100. Students read the paragraph(s) concerning the accident in second below.

Each night, children go to sleep from about one hour of bedtime, knowing that their first and best sleep comes tonight. It takes longer to understand the possibility of longer periods of sleep.

However, better sleepers are awakened by the parents' modification of sleep in the early morning hours of the morning. When there is no change in the sleep of the child, the child is sleeping through the night. When there is a change in the sleep of the child, the child is sleeping through the night.

101. Students write other arguments against the parents' modification of sleep to the accident in second below.

102. Students write the names of arguments for and against the parents' modification of sleep to the accident in second below.

Should children go to sleep in the morning with the child? Should you sleep?

103. Students write the names of arguments for and against the parents' modification of sleep to the accident in second below.
