Increasing the Capacity of Freight Transportation David Santana Ortiz, Brian Weatherford, Henry H. Willis, Myles Collins, Naveen Mandava, 2007 This document synthesizes the discussions of a one day workshop Increasing the Capacity of Freight Transport Canadian and American Perspectives on the Challenges Ahead that was held in Santa Monica California on February 16 2006 Pref Freight Transportation United States. Government Accountability Office, 2008 Freight Transport and the Environment M. Kroon, R. Smit, J. van Ham, 1991-10-16 In the past few decades freight transport on roads has grown considerably because of the quick and flexible movement of goods With an expanding market due to product specialization there will be an increase in the demand for freight transport There are however several negative implications for the environment air and noise pollution human health and other more far reaching phenomena such as acidification photochemical air pollution and the greenhouse effect Solutions to this problem are probed in this book including the stimulation of technological breakthroughs new transport policies and better traffic management The book provides a survey of present and potential approaches to reconcile the strong need for increasing transport and the necessity to stop the current destruction of natural resources and harm to human health Representing Freight in Air Quality and Greenhouse Gas Models Louis Harold Browning, 2010 This report presents an evaluation of the current methods used to generate air emissions information from all freight transportation activities and discusses their suitability for purposes such as health and climate risk assessments prioritization of emission reduction activities e g through State Implementation Plans and public education The report is especially valuable for 1 its identification of the state of the practice gaps and strengths and limitations of current emissions data estimates and methods and 2 its conceptual model that offers a comprehensive representation of freight activity by all transportation modes and relationships between modes This report will better inform the near term needs of public and private stakeholders regarding the quality of emissions data and guide future research that links freight activities with air emissions pub desc Transportation Systems Planning Konstadinos G.

Goulias, 2002-12-26 Transportation engineering and transportation planning are two sides of the same coin aiming at the design of an efficient infrastructure and service to meet the growing needs for accessibility and mobility Many well designed transport systems that meet these needs are based on a solid understanding of human behavior Since transportation systems
