The Night of the Hunter Jeffrey Couchman,2009-02-12 In the first major study of the long lost first draft screenplay by James Agee Jeffrey Couchman confronts a fifty year controversy about the authorship of the film He explores many levels of artistic convergence between novelist and director director and actor and cinematic form and audience expectations The talents that clashed or came together along the road from book to movie created a film of rich stylistic contradiction Combining biographical and historical analysis with a critical study of both the novel and the film

Couchman makes the case that this initially overlooked cinematic gem is a prismatic work that continually reveals new aspects of itself

Nuclear Science Abstracts ,1972-11 The Competitive Ethos and Democratic Education John G. Nicholls, 1989

Young children and even infants work hard at mastering various skills and show spontaneous pleasure at their own accomplishment John Nicholls explores the conditions that cause students to lose their unselfconscious involvement in a game or task and become concerned with how they are stacking up against others Charting the development of children's concepts of luck effort and ability he argues that with age they are increasingly prone to take superiority over others as the definition of success An emphasis on interpersonal competition which permeates Western society exacerbates this egotistical tendency and results in diminished accomplishment and alienation from school To overcome these problems Nicholls argues we must become as little children for whom absorption in exploration and accomplishment come naturally even when those around them are more competent This ideal is unlikely to be promoted through technical approaches to education or by the current emphasis on the role of education in economic development Instead Nicholls calls for a progressive approach to education Difficult though it is to implement this approach is most likely to increase equality of motivation for intellectual development substantial accomplishment satisfaction in work and more productive relations with others These are important ideas for anyone interested in achievement motivation for those professionally involved in education and for nonspecialists interested in or worried about how we educate our children
