Higher Education 4.0 Kevin Anthony Jones, Sharma Ravishankar, 2021-04-15 This book chronicles a 10 year introduction of blended learning into the delivery at a leading technological university with a longstanding tradition of technology enabled teaching and learning and state of the art infrastructure Hence both teachers and students were familiar with the idea of online courses Despite this the longitudinal experiment did not proceed as expected Though few technical problems it required behavioural changes from teachers and learners thus unearthing a host of socio technical issues challenges and conundrums With the undercurrent of design ideals such as tech for good any industrial sector must examine whether digital platforms are credible substitutes or at best complementary In this era of Industry 4.0 higher education like any other industry should not be about the creative destruction of what we value in universities but their digital transformation The book concludes with an agenda for large repeatable Randomised Controlled Trials (RCTs) to validate digital platforms that could fulfil the aspirations of the key stakeholder groups: students, faculty and regulators as well as delving into the role of Massive Open Online Courses (MOOCs) as surrogates for fees-free higher education and whether the design of such a HiEd 4.0 platform is even a credible proposition Specifically the book examines the data-driven evidence within a design-based research methodology to present outcomes of two alternative instructional designs: evaluated traditional lecturing and blended learning Based on the research findings and statistical analysis it concludes that the inexorable shift to online delivery of education must be guided by informed educational management and innovation

Health Promotion in Schools, Universities, Workplaces, and Communities Graça S. Carvalho, Emily Darlington, Teresa Vilaça, 2024-12-17 Health education, well-being improvement and advocacy are effective health promotion strategies among cutting-edge Public Health practices Salutogenic perspectives rooted in ecological models have taken their rightful place to empower individuals and communities to change their life ecosystems and preserve and improve their health It is imperative to shift from targeting protective or risk factors which have linear causal relationships with health conditions and/or comorbidities and encompass a systemic understanding of the role of health determinants in creating health Individual, collective and structural ecological approaches can better reduce health inequities Moreover, engaging the presumed beneficiaries from such strategies ensures that actual needs are identified and choices are context-specific It improves the whole implementation process as well as its results Higher levels of participation such as co-creation imply a bottom-up voluntary collaborative process rooted in values of diversity, mutual trust, openness, autonomy, freedom and respect as well as shared expertise, responsibility and decision-making which are essential values in co-creating health promotion
