Future-proofing STEAME education in South Africa Rajendran Govender, Josef de Beer, Rouaan Maarman, Rajendra Chetty, 2025-02-28 This book aims to contribute to the discourse of finding innovative solutions to the myriad of challenges facing science education in South Africa. The book positions itself in the multi-disciplinary focus on Science Technology Engineering Arts Mathematics and Entrepreneurship STEAME education rather than the traditional narrow focus on Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics STEM. The chapters in the book explore the challenges and opportunities facing STEAME education in a complex 21st century and at the advent of a society with a strong artificial intelligence component in its DNA. The leitmotif of the book is how engaging pedagogies could be utilised in the classroom to enhance self-directed learning a sine qua non to future proof South Africa's science and technological advancement. This is a book written by scholars for scholars. Its target audience includes academics and researchers in the field of science education and scholars engaged with innovative teaching pedagogies particularly approaches that would enhance the achievement of learners in disadvantaged contexts. The chapters in the book although eclectic in approach all contribute to the central theme of the book. Most of the chapters lean on textual analyses literature reviews or concept papers which disclose new ideas before full validation.

Human Rights, Diversity, and National Identity Patricia E. Bromley, 2011 Fundamental world changes that simultaneously undermine a nation state's charisma and promote the rise of a supra-national system have wide-ranging effects upon national states within a modern global society. My dissertation empirically examines the effects of social and cultural globalization on systems of mass schooling which are central institutions in every country. Globally primary and secondary education initially emerged as the premier tool for nation states to create a unified national citizenry loyal to their country and socialized into a common cultural tradition. I examine the extent to which this original nationalizing purpose of schooling is challenged by the increased emphases on universal human rights and diversity in civic education. The analyses consist of two sections. Hierarchical linear models are used to analyze a unique primary data source of 521 social science textbooks from 74 countries during the period 1970-2008. These findings show a worldwide increase in emphasis on human rights and increases in discussions of diversity in well-established liberal democracies. Cross-national quantitative analyses are complemented by a qualitative case study of social science curricula in British Columbia BC which examines nation building within a context of strong emphasis on diversity and human rights. The BC study utilizes currently approved high school citizenship education textbooks as well as older textbooks dating back to 1871. It also draws on a selection of historical documents including Ministry of Education reports curricular frameworks and high school exit exams. Process wise I find the incorporation of human rights and diversity reflects macro-level changes in national and global society. Content wise I find four main approaches to reconciling ideas of human rights and diversity with national identity: 1. framing human rights and multiculturalism as part of national identity 2. using pedagogical approaches that promote multiple perspectives and individual agency 3 celebrating social and scientific figures and accomplishments as the source of national pride and 4 drawing on exogenous sources to affirm state legitimacy This study is one of the first to theorize that civic education worldwide is moving away from a national focus and to provide empirical evidence of this trend A key implication is that educational systems are being repurposed from their original goal of constructing a unitary national citizenry to a new view emphasizing human diversity and equality in a globally interconnected world Further students are increasingly taught that the global civil society and non state actors are important and legitimate agents of social change Advanced Tribology Jianbin Luo,Yonggang Meng,Tianmin Shao,Qian Zhao,2010-07-16 Advanced Tribology is the proceedings of the 5th China International Symposium on Tribology held every four years and the 1st International Tribology Symposium of IFToMM held in Beijing 24th 27th September 2008 It contains seven parts lubrication friction and wear micro nano tribology tribology of coatings surface and interface biotribology tribo chemistry industry tribology The book reflects the recent progress in the fields such as lubrication friction and wear coatings and precision manufacture etc in the world The book is intended for researchers engineers and graduate students in the field of tribology lubrication mechanical production and industrial design The editors Jianbin Luo Yonggang Meng Tianmin Shao and Qian Zhao are all the professors at the State Key Lab of Tribology Tsinghua University Beijing Canadian Books in Print.
