Life Science Paper 1 Kzn Prelim 2014:

Curriculum and the Specialization of Knowledge Michael Young, Johan Muller, 2015-09-07 This book presents a new way for educators at all levels from early years to university to think about curriculum priorities. It focuses on the curriculum as a form of specialised knowledge optimally designed to enable students to gain access to the best knowledge available in any field. Papers jointly written by the authors over the last eight years are revised for this volume. It draws on the sociology of knowledge and in particular the work of Emile Durkheim and Basil Bernstein opening up the possibilities for collaborative inter disciplinary enquiry with historians, philosophers and psychologists. Although primarily directed to researchers, university teachers and graduate students, its arguments about specialised knowledge have profound implications for policy makers.

Generation of Scientists in Africa Catherine Beaudry, Johann Mouton, 2018-11-23 Young scientists are a powerful resource for change and sustainable development as they drive innovation and knowledge creation. However, comparable findings on young scientists in various countries, especially in Africa and developing regions, are generally sparse. Therefore, empirical knowledge on the state of early career scientists is critical in order to address current challenges faced by those scientists in Africa. This book reports on the main findings of a three and a half year international project in order to assist its readers in better understanding the African research system in general and more specifically its young scientists. The first part of the book provides background on the state of science in Africa and bibliometric findings concerning Africa's scientific production and networks for the period 2005 to 2015. The second part of the book combines the findings of a large scale quantitative survey and more than 200 qualitative interviews to provide a detailed profile of young scientists and the barriers they face in terms of five aspects of their careers: research output, funding, mobility, collaboration, and mentoring. In each case, field and gender differences are also taken into account. The last part of the book comprises conclusions and recommendations to relevant policy and decision makers on desirable changes to current research systems in Africa. Evolution Education

Around the Globe Hasan Deniz, Lisa A. Borgerding, 2018-06-21 This edited book provides a global view on evolution education. It describes the state of evolution education in different countries that are representative of geographical regions around the globe such as Eastern Europe, Western Europe, North Africa, South Africa, North America, South America, Middle East, Far East, South East Asia, Australia, and New Zealand. Studies in evolution education literature can be divided into three main categories: a) understanding the interrelationships among cognitive, affective, epistemological, and religious factors that are related to peoples views about evolution b designing implementing evaluating evolution education curriculum that reflects contemporary evolution understanding and c reducing antievolutionary attitudes This volume systematically summarizes the evolution education literature across these three categories for each country or geographical region The individual chapters thus include common elements that facilitate a cross cultural meta analysis Written for a primarily academic audience this book provides a much needed common background for future evolution education research across the globe Personal Adornment and the Construction of Identity Hannah V. Mattson, 2021-06-09 Objects of adornment have been a subject of archaeological historical and ethnographic study for well over a century Within archaeology personal ornaments have traditionally been viewed as decorative embellishments associated with status and wealth materializations of power relations and social strategies or markers of underlying social categories such as those related to gender class and ethnic affiliation Personal Adornment and the Construction of Identity seeks to understand these artefacts not as signals of steady pre existing cultural units and relations but as important components in the active and contingent constitution of identities Drawing on contemporary scholarship on materiality and relationality in archaeological and social theory this book uses one genre of material culture items of bodily adornment to illustrate how humans and objects construct one another Providing case studies spanning 10 countries three continents and more than 9 000 years of human history the authors demonstrate the myriad and dynamic ways personal ornaments were intertwined with embodied practice and identity performativity the creation and remaking of social memories and relational collections of persons materials and practices in the past The authors careful analyses of production methods and composition curation heirlooming and reworking decorative attributes and iconography position within assemblages and depositional context illuminate the varied material and relational axes along which objects of adornment contained social value and meaning When paired with the broad temporal and geographic scope collectively represented by these studies we gain a deeper appreciation for the subtle but vital roles these items played in human lives Preventing HIV Among Young People in Southern and Eastern Africa Kaymarlin Govender, Nana K Poku, 2020-12-30 This book provides an overview of the current epidemiology of the HIV epidemic among young people in Eastern and Southern Africa ESA and examines the efforts to confront and reduce the high level of new HIV infections amongst young people Taking a multi dimensional approach to prevention the contributors discuss the many challenges facing these efforts in view of the slow progress in curbing the incidence of HIV amongst young people focusing particularly on the structural and social drivers of HIV Through an examination of these issues chapters in this book provide valuable insights on how to mitigate HIV risk among young people and what can be regarded as the catalysts to mounting credible policy and programmatic responses required to achieve epidemic control in the region The contributors draw on examples from a range of primary and secondary data sources to illustrate promising practices and challenges in HIV prevention demonstrating links between conceptual approaches to prevention and lessons learnt from implementation projects in the region Bringing together social scientists and public health experts who are actively engaged in finding effective solutions the book discusses which interventions works why they work and the limitations and gaps in our knowledge to curb the pandemic amongst young people As such it is an important read for researchers focusing on HIV AIDS and public health The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/10.4324/9780429462818> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

The Land Question in China Shaohua Zhan, 2019-01-15 This book interrogates the inevitability and practicability of full scale land intensive capitalist agriculture in China whilst analyzing the labor intensive industrious revolution as an alternative rural development path It presents a critical account of the recent rise of agrarian capitalism as a force that would undermine hundreds of millions of people's livelihoods in the populous country The Land Question in China traces the roots of the industrious revolution in China back to the eighteenth century drawing comparisons between contemporary rural development and economic prosperity in the mid Qing dynasty In the context of neoliberal restructuring it argues that vigorous rural development with broad access to land offers a solution to mitigate precarious urban employment and population pressure while the transfer of land from villagers to large producers and urban investors will exacerbate these problems Comparisons with South Africa and the East Asian economies of Japan South Korea and Taiwan further illustrate this and help to develop a new interpretation of the industrious revolution and its contemporary relevance Providing a critical examination of the new land reform in China from a world historical perspective this book will be useful to students and scholars of sociology economics and development as well as Chinese Studies

Tribing and Untribing the Archive Carolyn Hamilton,Nessa Leibhammer,2016 These volumes track how the domain of the tribal and traditional was marked out and came to be sharply distinguished from modernity how it was denied a changing history and an archive and was endowed instead with a timeless culture These volumes also offer strategies for engaging with the materials differently from the interventions effected in contemporary artworks to the inserting of nameless timeless objects of material culture into histories of individualized and politicized experience Publisher's description

Hegemony, Security Infrastructures and the Politics of Crime Gideon van Riet, 2021-11-01 This book examines the politics of crime and the response to it in Potchefstroom a small settler colonial city in South Africa It draws on the city's everyday practices and experiences to offer local bottom up insights into security beyond the state The book provides a comprehensive understanding of security beyond the state and how security workers and residents experience and perceive their own security practices their daily interactions with other security providers which influences power dynamics between those who express fear through various platforms and those deemed potential criminals It aids in re conceptualising violence and security governance in South Africa with a view to analysing the processes of crime prevention and management the changing nature of public and private spaces and how these spaces interact with state and local authorities In a rigorous exploration of the ways to tackle the complex problem of crime the book critiques an overreliance on security infrastructures such as social media gated barriers neighbourhood residents associations and private security companies It also looks at how crime is treated as an individual as opposed to a societal problem The book addresses the urgent need for collaboration across these fault lines to promote a more inclusive security in a broader fragmented social and political context With a novel analytical approach based on the twin optics of infrastructure and post structural hegemony the book will be relevant to scholars and students of South African politics and critical security studies as well as international audience interested in crime and private security The Surrounds AbdouMaliq

Simone,2022-03-07 In The Surrounds renowned urbanist AbdouMaliq Simone offers a new theorization of the interface of the urban and the political Working at the intersection of Black studies urban theory and decolonial and Islamic thought Simone centers the surrounds those urban spaces beyond control and capture that exist as a locus of rebellion and invention He shows that even in clearly defined city environments whether industrial carceral administrative or domestic residents use spaces for purposes they were not designed for schools become housing markets turn into classrooms tax offices transform into repair shops The surrounds Simone contends are where nothing fits according to design They are where forgotten and marginalized populations invent new relations and ways of living and being continuously reshaping what individuals and collectives can do Focusing less on what new worlds may come to be and more on what people are creating now Simone shows how the surrounds are an integral part of the expansiveness of urban imagination The Archaeology of Southern
