General Aptitude Compulsory Solved Papers YCT Expert Team , 2023 24 NTA CSIR NET JRF PART A General Aptitude Compulsory Solved Papers 2023-24 NTA/CSIR-NET/JRF Part B & C YCT Expert Team , 2023 24 NTA CSIR NET JRF Part B C Life Science Solved Papers The Oxford Handbook of Law, Regulation and Technology Roger Brownsword,Eloise Scotford,Karen Yeung,2017-07-24 The variety pace and power of technological innovations that have emerged in the 21st Century have been breathtaking These technological developments which include advances in networked information and communications biotechnology neurotechnology nanotechnology robotics and environmental engineering technology have raised a number of vital and complex questions Although these technologies have the potential to generate positive transformation and help address grand societal challenges the novelty associated with technological innovation has also been accompanied by anxieties about their risks and destabilizing effects Is there a potential harm to human health or the environment What are the ethical implications Do this innovations erode of antagonize values such as human dignity privacy democracy or other norms underpinning existing bodies of law and regulation These technological developments have therefore spawned a nascent but growing body of law and technology scholarship broadly concerned with exploring the legal social and ethical dimensions of technological innovation This handbook collates the many and varied strands of this scholarship focusing broadly across a range of new and emerging technology and a vast array of social and policy sectors through which leading scholars in the field interrogate the interfaces between law emerging technology and regulation Structured in five parts the handbook I establishes the collection of essays within existing scholarship concerned with law and technology as well as regulatory governance II explores the relationship between technology development by focusing on core concepts and values which technological developments implicate III studies the challenges for law in responding to the emergence of new technologies examining how legal norms doctrine and institutions have been shaped challenged and destabilized by technology and even how technologies have been shaped by legal regimes IV provides a critical exploration of the implications of technological innovation examining the ways in which technological innovation has generated challenges for regulators in the governance of technological development and the implications of employing new technologies as an instrument of regulatory governance V explores various interfaces between law regulatory governance and new technologies across a range of key social domains The Biologist's Imagination William R. Hoffman,Leo Furcht,2014 Discusses the history of technological innovation in the biosciences Farmers' Crop Varieties and Farmers' Rights Michael Halewood,2016-03-21 Over the last 50 years there has been a growing appreciation of the important role that farmers play in the development and conservation of crop genetic diversity and the contribution of that diversity to agro ecosystem resilience and food security This book examines policies that aim to increase the share of benefits that farmers receive when others use the crop varieties that they have developed and managed i e farmers varieties In so doing the book addresses two fundamental questions The first question is how do farmer management practices along with other factors such as environment and the breeding systems of plants affect the evolution and maintenance of discrete farmers varieties The second question is how can policies that depend on being able to identify discrete plant varieties accommodate the agricultural realities associated with the generation use and maintenance of farmers varieties This focus on discreteness is topical because there are no fixed internationally recognized taxonomic or legal definitions of farmers varieties And that presents a challenge when developing policies that involve making specific discrete farmers varieties the subject of legal rights or privileges The book includes contributions from a wide range of experts including agronomists anthropologists geneticists biologists plant breeders lawyers development practitioners activists and farmers It includes case studies from Asia Africa Latin America and Europe where in response to a diversity of contributing factors there have been efforts to develop policies that provide incentives or rewards to farmers as stewards of farmers varieties in ways that are sensitive to the cultural taxonomic and legal complexities involved The book situates these initiatives in the context of the evolving discourse and definition of farmers rights presenting insights for future policy initiatives

The H5N1 Virus

Philip R. Egert, 2019-11-18 This book is the first study of its kind that reveals the social justice linkages between three unique characteristics of the highly pathogenic avian influenza H5N1 virus namely veterinary scourge public health contagion fear and potential bioterrorist weapon With its extensive referencing it will be invaluable for scholars of security studies global public health and international relations as well as for professionals diplomats and practitioners with an interest in the relationship between global health security and social justice Comprised of two major sections the book examines the various representations of knowledge about the H5N1 virus The first part explores the three major narratives that were used to describe the virus during its 20 year journey from 1996 to 2016 During this time the virus multiplied its ontological status through narratives that described a localized animal virus a global public health crisis and finally an irrational contagion fear The text s second section describes in detail a unique aspect of the H5N1 virus s journey as an emerging infectious disease its representation as a potential weapon for bioterrorists As a result the US government attempted to secure knowledge about the H5N1 virus This attempt produced a global debate between scientists and policy makers over how to balance the nation state s desire for security with the life sciences tradition of openly shared research Known as the dual use dilemma this debate set up binaries of impossible reconciliation between the scientific and security communities This book argues that the H5N1 dual use dilemma obscures larger questions of justice and proposes a new concept of justice knowledge justice as an alternate more globally inclusive framework for exploring a socially just way out of the dilemma

Early engagement and new technologies: Opening up the laboratory Neelke Doorn, Daan Schuurbijs, Ibo van de Poel, Michael E. Gorman, 2014-02-06

Despite the topic s urgency and centrality this is the first edited volume to offer a comprehensive assessment of the varying approaches to early engagement with new technologies including nanotechnology synthetic biology biotechnology and ICT Covering five main approaches to early engagement constructive technology assessment CTA value sensitive design VSD midstream modulation MM the network approach for moral evaluation and political technology assessment the book will be a pivotal text in the rapidly developing research field of ELSI which explores the ethical legal and social implications of new technologies Featuring leading scholars who discuss each early engagement approach in turn the chapters cover both theory and applications and include evaluative assessments of specific instances of early adoption of technologies Further contributions focus on theoretical issues relevant to all approaches including interdisciplinary cooperation normativity and intervention and political and public relevance The publication has added profile due to the requirement of multi billion dollar research programs in the US and Europe to engage in ELSI research alongside that of the technical development itself even in the early stages Its comprehensive scrutiny of the core factors in early engagement will ensure a readership of policy makers as well as scientists and engineers Pharmaceuticals to Nutraceuticals Dilip

Ghosh,R. B. Smarta,2016-10-26 Recently there has been a fundamental shift in the global health and wellness industry from disease treatment to preventing chronic diseases The use of nutraceuticals and functional foods in prevention efforts could lead to a decreased dependency on drugs The pharmaceutical industry recognizes this shift however serious concerns have arisen regarding the claimed efficacy quality and safety of products used as medical foods This book examines the consumer and industry mindshift including the scientific evidence of these foods as effective adjuncts to pharmacotherapy during all stages of treatment of various diseases thus indicating that pharmaceuticals and nutraceuticals can and should coexist It details quality safety and efficacy of foods drugs and nutrients marketing and product positioning regulatory perspectives biomarkers and metabolites probiotics food drug interactions and future industry trends In addition food bioactives represent diet based molecules that perform physiological roles related to disease prevention and treatment As such a considerable overlap exists between food bioactives and drugs this book presents the case for comparing and contrasting foods versus drugs in several models of health and disease Modern aspects of sustainable management , SBI & IBPS Bank

Defining Sustainable Development for Our Common Future Iris Borowy,2013-12-04 The UN World Commission on Environment and Development chaired by former Norwegian Prime Minister Gro Harlem Brundtland alerted the world to the urgency of making progress toward economic development that could be sustained without depleting natural resources or harming the environment Written by an international group of politicians civil servants and experts on the environment and development the Brundtland Report changed sustainable development from a physical notion to one based on social economic and environmental issues This book positions the Brundtland Commission as a key event within a longer series of international reactions to pressing problems of global poverty and environmental degradation It shows that its report Our Common Future published in 1987 covered much more than its definition of sustainable development as development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs for which it became best known It also addressed a long list of issues which remain unresolved today The book explores how the work of the Commission juggled contradictory expectations and world views which existed within the Commission and beyond and drew on the concept of sustainable development as a way to reconcile profound differences The result was both an immense success and disappointment Coining an irresistibly simple definition enabled the Brundtland Commission to place sustainability firmly on the international agenda This definition gained acceptability for a potentially divisive concept but it also diverted attention from underlying demands for fundamental political and social changes Meanwhile the central message of the Commission the need to make inconvenient sustainability considerations a part of global politics as much as of everyday life has been side lined The book thus assesses to what extent the Brundtland Commission represented an immense step forward or a missed opportunity
