The Lady of Shalott in the Victorian Novel Jennifer Gribble, 1983-12-01      A European Version of Victorian Fiction Allan Conrad Christensen, 2023-04-12 In this first systematic assessment of Ruffini's literary achievement the seven novels that are apparently so different from each other emerge as an aesthetically coherent and individualized contribution to the mid Victorian fictional canon Composed in English by an Italian exile resident in Paris they describe interactions among men and women of many nationalities and trace interesting European journeys and pilgrimages during the early days of mass tourism While thus documenting such phenomena as expanding rail networks holiday resorts and health spas the novels dramatize more importantly the inadequacy of narrowly local and intolerant perspectives The protagonists must gain a broadly cosmopolitan vision and sense of mutuality as they pursue the common quest for self integration and for a purpose in life A patriotic commitment like that which had engaged Ruffini in his youthful Mazzinian phase cannot now offer that purpose and the narratives convey strong scepticism about other ideals such as romantic love too More positively the stories contain many dedicated physicians who practice a holistic medicine and who thereby substitute for the often sinister priests of a corrupt religious establishment Ministering to the humanity that Ruffini typically portrays as sick or wounded and tormented by misanthropy and guilt they are the chief mitigators of the bleakness of the modern condition      Directory of American Scholars: English speech and drama , 1999      Lady Unknown Edna Healey, 2011-12-01 In 1837 at the age of twenty three Angela Burdett Coutts inherited a vast fortune from her banker grandfather making her one of the richest and thus potentially powerful women in Victorian England She moved in the highest social circles entertaining the rising stars of the political scene Disraeli and Gladstone attending scientific lectures with Faraday pursuing her philanthropic work with Dickens and falling in love with the aged Duke of Wellington Her acts of charity were enormous and wide ranging establishing a home for fallen women pioneering model housing battling for sanitary reform supporting the NSPCC and the RSPCA and promoting technical education and domestic science A devout Anglican she built churches founded colonial bishoprics and encouraged the missionary work of Livingstone and others Despite all this activity Angela remained throughout her life a shy and supremely private person The full range of her charity will probably never be known for she often acted through intermediaries such as Dickens describing herself only as lady unknown And a lady unknown she has largely remained her role in Victorian England strangely overlooked or forgotten Edna Healey has uncovered much new material including unpublished correspondence from Dickens Livingstone Gladstone Wellington Faraday and Henry Irving to provide a fascinating insight into this most remarkable lady      Shock, Memory and the Unconscious in Victorian Fiction Jill L. Matus, 2009-09-10 Jill Matus explores shock in Victorian fiction and psychology with startling results that reconfigure the history of trauma theory Central to Victorian thinking about consciousness and emotion shock is a concept that challenged earlier ideas about the relationship between mind and body Although the new materialist psychology of the mid nineteenth century made possible the very concept of a wound to the psyche the recognition for example that those who escaped physically unscathed from train crashes or other overwhelming experiences might still have been injured in some significant way it was Victorian fiction with its complex explorations of the inner life of the individual and accounts of upheavals in personal identity that most fully articulated the idea of the haunted possessed and traumatized subject This wide ranging book reshapes our understanding of Victorian theories of mind and memory and reveals the relevance of nineteenth century culture to contemporary theories of trauma The Athenaeum ,1912 The Athenaeum James Silk Buckingham,John Sterling,Frederick Denison Maurice,Henry Stebbing,Charles Wentworth Dilke,Thomas Kibble Hervey,William Hepworth Dixon,Norman Maccoll,Vernon Horace Rendall,John Middleton Murry,1880 Dickens and the Broken Scripture Janet L. Larson,2008-12-01 In Dickens and the Broken Scripture Janet Larson examines the paradoxical role of the Bible in Dickens novels from such early works as Oliver Twist and Dombey and Son in which the Bible and the Book of Common Prayer were drawn upon for the most part as stable sources of reassurance and order to the far more complex novels of Dickens maturity such as Bleak House Little Dorrit and Our Mutual Friend In these later works biblical allusion performs an increasingly contradictory and dissonant role that brings into question not only the moral character of Victorian society but also the sanctity of received religious traditions Critics have tended to view Dickens extensive use of the Bible as a not particularly complex or admirable aspect of his artistry as a device he used primarily as a means of reassuring and building solidarity with his Victorian public But as Larson demonstrates Dickens use of biblical allusion was as sophisticated and multifaceted as his use of character narrative description and plot In Dickens novels the Bible is a broken book in need of revitalization and reinterpretation for his time but also desperately vulnerable to attack from the tempestuous Victorian society of his day Scarecrows of Chivalry Praseeda Gopinath,2013-04-10 Exploring the fate of the ideal of the English gentleman once the empire he was meant to embody declined Praseeda Gopinath argues that the stylization of English masculinity became the central theme focus and conceit for many literary texts that represented the condition of Britain in the 1930s and the immediate postwar era From the early writings of George Orwell and Evelyn Waugh to works by poets and novelists such as Philip Larkin Ian Fleming Barbara Pym and A S Byatt the author shows how Englishmen trafficking in the images of self restraint governance decency and detachment in the absence of a structuring imperial ethos became what the poet Larkin called scarecrows of chivalry Gopinath s study of this masculine ideal under duress reveals the ways in which issues of race class and sexuality constructed a gendered narrative of the nation Tales of Scottish Highlands & Moors - 70+ Historical Novels, Adventure Classics & Victorian Romances Robert Louis Stevenson,John Buchan,George MacDonald,Walter Scott,J. Contemporary Introduction to Sociology Jeffrey C. Alexander, Kenneth Thompson, Laura Desfor Edles, 2016-01-08. The first edition of A Contemporary Introduction to Sociology was the first truly new introductory sociology textbook in decades. Written by two leading sociologists at the cutting edge of theory and research, the text reflected the idioms and interests of contemporary American life and global social issues. The second edition continues to invite students to reflect upon their lives within the context of the combustible leap from modern to postmodern life. The authors show how culture is central to understanding many world problems as they challenge readers to confront the risks and potentialities of a postmodern era in which the futures of both the physical and social environment seem uncertain. As culture rapidly changes in the 21st century, the authors have broadened their analysis to cover developments in social media and new data on gender and transgender issues.

Execution, State and Society in England, 1660-1900 Simon Devereaux, 2023-10-26. Charts the history of execution laws and practices in the Bloody Code era and its extraordinary transformation by 1900.

Literature Against Criticism Martin Paul Eve, 2016-10-17. This is a book about the power game currently being played out between two symbiotic cultural institutions: the university and the novel. As the number of hyper-knowledgeable literary fans grows, students and researchers in English departments waver between dismissing and harnessing voices outside the academy. Meanwhile, the role that the university plays in contemporary literary fiction is becoming increasingly complex and metafictional, moving far beyond the campus novel of the mid-twentieth century. Martin Paul Eve's engaging and far-reaching study explores the novel's contribution to the ongoing displacement of cultural authority away from university English. Spanning the works of Jennifer Egan, Ishmael Reed, Tom McCarthy, Sarah Waters, Percival Everett, Roberto Bolaño, and many others, Literature Against

Criticism forces us to re think our previous notions about the relationship between those who write literary fiction and those who critique it
