After a brutal day investigating a quadruple homicide, Detective Hoke Moseley settles into his room at the unillustrious El Dorado Hotel and nurses a glass of brandy. With his guard down, he doesn't think twice when he hears a knock on the door. The next day he finds himself in the hospital, badly bruised and with his jaw wired shut. He thinks back over ten years of cases, wondering who would want to beat him into unconsciousness, steal his gun and badge, and most importantly, make off with his prized dentures. But the pieces never quite add up to revenge, and the few clues he has keep connecting to a dimwitted hooker and her ex-con boyfriend and the bizarre murder of a Hare Krishna pimp. Chronically depressed, constantly strapped for money, always willing to bend the rules a bit, Hoke Moseley is hardly what you think of as the perfect cop, but he is one of the greatest detective creations of all time. The third revised and enlarged edition contains discussions of British, Irish, and American literary works up to 2020. Focussing on outstanding writings in prose, poetry, drama, and non-fiction, the book covers the time from the Anglo-Saxon period to the 21st century. The feature that makes this literary history unique among its rivals is the coverage of television, web series, and a particular form of postmodern drama. The chapters on recent drama now contain detailed analyses of the development of TV and web series from Britain, Ireland, and America, with extensive discussions of those series now considered classics. In addition, there are several major innovative features. To begin with, each century is introduced by a survey of the socio-political and cultural backgrounds in which the literary works are embedded. Furthermore, extensive visual material—more than 160 engravings, cartoons, and paintings—has been integrated. This visual aspect, as well as the introductory sections on art for each century, give the reader an excellent idea of the symbiosis between visual and literary representations. Further innovative aspects include discussions of non-fictional works from literary criticism and theory, travel writing, historiography, and the social sciences; analyses of such popular genres as crime fiction, science fiction, fantasy, the Western, horror fiction, and children's literature; footnotes explaining technical and historical terms and events; a detailed glossary of literary terms; chronological tables for British, Anglo-Irish, and American literatures; an updated cut-off date 2020; extensive bibliography containing suggestions for further
