Islamic Studies Scheme Of Work For Ss:

Parting Gifts of Empire Esmat Elhalaby, 2025-09-30 Parting Gifts of Empire narrates an untold story of how Arabs and South Asians in the twentieth century sought to decolonize their minds. The histories of Palestine and India both partitioned by the British Empire were intimately linked. In the face of the same imperially created chasm, intellectuals in Africa and Asia reinvigorated centuries of shared histories to forge new horizons, new solidarities, new institutions and new fields of knowledge. In this book, Esmat Elhalaby traces the forgotten lives of scholars like Wadi al Bustani, revisits Arab and Indian feminist meetings, highlights gatherings such as Delhi's 1947 Asian Relations Conference and argues for the centrality of Palestine to the rise of Third Worldism. This book breaks new ground to unfold a global intellectual history of anticolonialism, Asian unity, pan-Islamism and nonalignment in the making of what became known as the Global South.

Studies in Islamic Commercial Law & Ottoman Land Law Servet Armagan, 2011 This book is a humble essay on some topics in Islamic law. It is divided into two main parts. The first part presents some legal studies carried out by a jurist in Islamic commercial law. The second part takes up land law in the Ottoman Empire. Nonetheless, we should admit that one of the most obvious features of the Ottoman Empire was its wide territory and characteristics of its administration. The Ottoman Empire lasted for more than 600 years and extended across three continents: Asia, Africa, and Europe. Economically, this worldwide empire, known as the Pact Ottomana, is important for the Ottoman treasury. The land law of the Ottoman Empire can be a model for Islamic countries today, both with respect to administration and economics; the latter is very important. These countries should adopt the land system of the Ottoman Empire, and this book will elucidate the main justifications and reasons for this claim.

The Legal and Regulatory Aspects of Islamic Banking Abdul Karim Aldohni, 2012-05-23 During the last ten years, the Islamic banking sector has grown rapidly at an international level as well as in individual jurisdictions, including the UK. Islamic finance differs quite substantially from conventional banking, using very different mechanisms and operating according to a different theory as it is based on Islamic law. Yet at the same time, it is always subject to the law of the particular financial market in which it operates. This book takes a much needed and comprehensive look at the legal and regulatory aspects which affect Islamic finance, law, and examines the current UK and international banking regulatory frameworks which impact on this sector. The book examines the historical genesis of Islamic banking, looking at how it has developed in Muslim countries, before going on to consider the development of Islamic banking in the UK and the legal position of Islamic banks within English law. The book explores company, contract, and some elements of tax law, and traces the impact it has had on the development of Islamic banking in the UK, before going on to argue that the current legal and regulatory framework which affects the Islamic banking sector has, on certain occasions, had an unintended adverse impact on Islamic banking in the UK. The book also provides an overview of the Malaysian experience in relation to some of the main legal and regulatory challenges in the context of Islamic banking and finance.

Islamic Private Law Ahmed Akgunduz, 2017

There is no explicit separation in Islamic law between public and private law but a special system has been used throughout history. Some scholars use the term Muslim personal law which derived from the term al-sha'riyyah in Fiqh books. But we prefer Islamic private law because Muslim personal law indicates different legal meaning rules governing natural and legal persons. In this book we will elaborate on Islamic rules relating to seven branches of private law: personal law, family law, inheritance law, obligations and contracts law, property law, commercial law, and international private law. We will explain or summarize Islamic rules in this book rather than my the author's personal views. Unfortunately there is a misunderstanding in Western countries if any Muslim scholar writes an article or book or grants an interview to a journalist to explain Islamic rules on any issue, most Westerners and especially people ignorant of Islamic Law attribute these views to this scholar and holds him or her accountable. For example a Dutch journalist came to see me and asked about the issue of beating women in the Qur'an. I explained the verse in the Qur'an and some interpretations by the Prophet Muhammed and Muslim jurists. The journalist did not understand what I explained and many people have accused me of advising Muslims to beat their women. This is absolutely false. This is why we have to explain the following points. The first point is this: All the regulations in Islamic law are divided into two groups with respect to legal authority. First rules that were based directly on the Qur'an and the Sunnah and codified in books on Fiqh. Islamic Law are called Shar'ah rules. Shar'i, Shar'f or Shar'ah law, these rules constitute 85% of the legal system. The exclusive sources of these rules are the Qur'an, the consensus of Muslim jurists and true analogy qiyas. All explanations of these rules based completely on the Qur'an and the Sunnah. If any Muslim scholar writes an article on beating women or polygamy, he is responsible only for his/her interpretations. Could any scholar be responsible for the religious ideology that he/she explains? Are his/her explanations to be considered propaganda for that religion or ideology? Absolutely not. Western authorities, politicians and journalists should know that Muslims hold that every machine has a manual. If the manual is not followed when the machine is being used or operated, it will break. Allah sent the Qur'an as the manual for human beings. If a society does not take the Qur'an as its guide, it is destined to have the same fate as a machine that is operated without the manual. This is a basic creed for Muslims. A Muslim cannot disagree with an explicit verse of the Qur'an. Second, financial law, land law, ta'zir penalties, arrangements concerning military law and administrative law, in particular, were based on the restricted legislative authority vested by Shar'ah decrees and those jurisprudential decrees that were founded on secondary sources such as customs and traditions and the public good which fell under public law al-Siyasah al-Shariyyah, Shar'ah policies, Qanun, Legal Code and the like. Since these could not exceed the limits of Shar'ah principles, either they should not be viewed as a legal system outside of Islamic Law. The second point is that another classification of the Islamic rules should be explained. Many Muslims and non-Muslims think that all injunctions in Islamic Law such as polygamy and slavery were established by the Qur'an or the Sunnah directly and Islamic Law has been criticized severely for this. The supposition here is false. A further point that causes confusion is the view that there was no slavery male or female before Isl

m and that Isl m introduced it There are however two kinds of injunctions in Isl mic law 1 The first are injunctions that were laid down by Isl m as principles for the first time since they did not exist in previous legal systems Isl m established these principles such as zak h waqf endowments and inheritance shares Muslim scholars state that these are completely beneficial for humankind as a whole They also contain many instances of wisdom and purpose even if people are not aware of them 2 The second are injunctions that Isl m did not introduce they already existed and Isl m modified them That is Isl m was not the first to set them down rather they were part of the law systems of other societies and were applied in a savage form Since it would have been contrary to human nature to abolish injunctions of this kind suddenly and completely Isl mic Law modified them so that they were no longer barbaric but civilized Slavery and polygamy are good examples of this 2 My third point is that I have explained theoretical rules of Isl mic Law in this book but have not neglected the practice aspect of Isl mic private law We have focused on the practice of the Ottoman State for Shar ah especially because the Ottoman State practiced Isl mic Law completely and we have archival documents proving this claim The study of Shar iyyah Records Shari iyyah Sijilleri proves that in the Ottoman State Shar ah rules were taken as the basis for personal law family law inheritance law jus obligationum law of commodities commercial law and all the branches of private law with respect to international private law The analysis of the two essential sources of information regarding Ottoman law viz legal codices and Shar iyyah Records leads to the following irrefutable conclusion the Ottoman legislative authorities only and solely codified administrative law with the exception of various subjects of constitutional law property law laws regarding state land military law financial law ta z r punishment by way of reproof crimes in criminal law and their penalties and decrees regarding some exceptional issues of private law In issuing decrees on these it codified Shar ah principles if any since matters transferred to the rulers arrangements would be made in consideration of such secondary sources as the public good customs and traditions Because it could never be alleged that a state s legal system consisted solely in the above mentioned subjects it could also not be claimed that the stated issues were arranged in disregard of Shar i Shar f The explanations below will clarify this matter 3 The fourth point is that contemporary Isl mic codes from different Muslim countries were not neglected I have sometimes looked at the Moroccan Family Code al Mudawwana 4 Egyptian laws that are the root of Muslim Middle Eastern countries legal systems Pakistan s law code which was based on the anaf Law School We could say that in Lebanon Syria Iraq Kuwait Jordan the effects of Ottoman legal codes like Majallah and family law continue The fifth point is as follows This book is based principally in the anaf School and Ottoman practice Nonetheless comparisons with other schools have been made especially with the M lik School which is the official school in Morocco the United Arab Emirates and some other countries the Sh fi School which is the official school in Indonesia and some other countries the anbal School the official school in Saudi Arabia and some other countries and finally the Ja far School which is the official school especially in Iran For comparison between schools this work has benefitted from some major works on Isl mic law These works include M Zarqa Al F qh al sl m F
