My belief about myself as a learner when I entered the class was a positive one. I attended a college prep school for high school and went to Oregon State University last year. I had plenty of practice with different learning techniques and found what works well for me. I believe I'm more of a visual learner than an auditory learner. It is easier to see a powerpoint and retain the knowledge then listen to a lecture and have the same retention. Entering the class I thought I liked working in groups more than working individually on projects, but that has since changed. I think it is more beneficial to me to work alone because I can get more done. When I entered the class I believed that reading the material closer to the due date was a better idea because I may not remember what I had read if I didn't.

What I have discovered about myself, as a learner over the term is vast. I learned that I can read the material way in advance and just briefly skim over the text and remember just about everything, were as I thought reading closer was more beneficial. I also learned that working in groups really isn't my specialty. I prefer working by myself because I'm able to get a lot more done and not have to worry about other people forgetting their part of the project. I don't like having to worry about other people not following through. I also learned that looking at the daily record in advanced helped me

Creating Contexts for Learning and Self-authorship Marcia B.

Baxter Magolda,1999 This book is intended to help college faculty create conditions in which students learn to construct knowledge in their disciplines and achieve self authorship A significant and often overlooked dimension mediating learning and self authorship centers on learners ways of knowing or their assumptions about the nature limits and certainty of knowledge A learner who assumes that all knowledge is certain expects to hear answers from an authority figure in contrast a learner who views knowledge as relative expects to explore multiple viewpoints By taking a constructive developmental approach the author demonstrates how students ability to construct knowledge is intertwined with the development of their assumptions about knowledge itself and their role in creating it She shows how the structure of constructive developmental teaching hinges on three principles validating students ability to know situating learning in students experience and defining learning as teachers and students mutually constructing meaning The book also takes abstract pedagogical principles and translates them into practical approaches

Handbook of Research on Creating Meaningful Experiences in Online Courses
Kyei-Blankson, Lydia,Ntuli, Esther,Blankson, Joseph,2019-11-29 While online courses are said to be beneficial and many reputable brick and mortar higher education institutions are now offering undergraduate and graduate programs online there is still ongoing debate on issues related to credibility and acceptability There is some reluctance to teach online and to admit and hire students who have enrolled in online programs Given these concerns it is essential that educators in online communities continue to share the significant learning experiences and outcomes that occur in online classrooms and highlight pedagogical practices used by online instructors to make their courses and programs comparable to those offered face to face The Handbook of Research on Creating Meaningful Experiences in Online Courses is a comprehensive research book that examines the quality of courses in higher education that are offered exclusively online and details strategies and practices used by online instructors to create meaningful teaching and learning experiences in online courses Featuring a range of topics such as gamification professional development and learning outcomes this book is ideal for academicians researchers educators administrators instructional designers curriculum developers higher education faculty and students

Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry Nona Lyons,2010-04-07 Philosophers have warned of the perils of a life spent without reflection but what constitutes reflective inquiry and why it s necessary in our lives can be an elusive concept Synthesizing ideas from minds as diverse as John Dewey and Paulo Freire theHandbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry presents reflective thought in its most vital aspects not as a fanciful or nostalgic exercise but as a powerful means of seeing familiar events anew encouraging critical thinking and crucial insight teaching and learning In its opening pages two seasoned educators Maxine Greene and Lee Shulman discuss reflective inquiry as a form of active attention Thoreau s wide awakesness an act of consciousness and a process by which people can understand themselves their work particularly in the form of life projects and others Building on this foundation the Handbook analyzes through the work of 40 internationally oriented authors Definitional issues concerning reflection what it is and is not Worldwide social and moral conditions contributing to the growing interest in reflective inquiry in professional education Reflection as promoted across professional educational domains including K 12 education teacher education occupational therapy and the law Methods of facilitating and scaffolding reflective engagement Current pedagogical and research practices in reflection Approaches to assessing reflective inquiry Educators across the professions as well as adult educators counselors and psychologists and curriculum developers concerned with adult learning will find the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry an invaluable teaching tool for challenging times
