Teaching Mathematical Reasoning in Secondary School Classrooms Karin Brodie,2009-10-08 For too many students mathematics consists of facts in a vacuum to be memorized because the instructor says so and to be forgotten when the course of study is completed In this all too common scenario young learners often miss the chance to develop skills specifically reasoning skills that can serve them for a lifetime The elegant pages of Teaching Mathematical Reasoning in Secondary School Classrooms propose a more positive solution by presenting a reasoning and discussion based approach to teaching mathematics emphasizing the connections between ideas or why math works The teachers whose work forms the basis of the book create a powerful record of methods interactions and decisions including dealing with challenges and impasses involving this elusive topic And because this approach shifts the locus of authority from the instructor to mathematics itself students gain a system of knowledge that they can apply not only to discrete tasks relating to numbers but also to the larger world of people and the humanities A sampling of the topics covered Whole class discussion methods for teaching mathematics reasoning Learning mathematical reasoning through tasks Teaching mathematics using the five strands Classroom strategies for promoting mathematical reasoning Maximizing student contributions in the classroom Overcoming student resistance to mathematical conversations Teaching Mathematical Reasoning in Secondary School Classrooms makes a wealth of cutting edge strategies available to mathematics teachers and teacher educators This book is an invaluable resource for researchers in mathematics and curriculum reform and of great interest to teacher educators and teachers Progress, Change and Development in Early Childhood Education and Care Elizabeth Coates,Dorothy Faulkner,2017-10-02 In 2000 the Millennium Development Goals set out targets aimed at creating a safer more prosperous and more equitable world If these goals were to be achieved children s lives would indeed be transformed In this collection achievements against these targets are identified with each contributor examining the progress made in early years provision in Australia China England Greece the Netherlands Portugal South Africa and Sweden They highlight the priorities and agendas of their respective governments and focus on the trends and issues which are particularly relevant to each situation thereby revealing the social and educational inequalities that persist across countries A common theme running through this volume concerns the political tensions that arise when governments and educators hold fundamentally different views about the nature and purpose of early years education and the needs of children and families It is clear that although the past two decades have seen many changes in attitude towards the importance of the early years of life politically economically and environmentally much still remains to be done if the Millennium Development Goals for young children and their families are to be fully met Despite this this volume demonstrates that those who work in this area continue to experience a deep concern for the well being of young children which transcends cultures frontiers and political and sectarian divides This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Early Years Education
