What's the Buzz Hot or Not In the Public Eye Garbage In Garbage Out     Faith in Life Donald J. Morse, 2019-01-29 This is the first book to consider John Dewey's early philosophy on its own terms and to explicate its key ideas. It does so through the fullest treatment to date of his youthful masterwork, The Psychology. This fuller treatment reveals that the received view which sees Dewey's early philosophy as unimportant in its own right is deeply mistaken. In fact, Dewey's early philosophy amounts to an important new form of idealism. More specifically, Dewey's idealism contains a new logic of rupture which allows us to achieve four things: A focus on discontinuity that challenges all naturalistic views including Dewey's own later view; A space of critical resistance to events that is at the same time the source of ideals; A faith in the development of ideals that challenges pessimists like Schopenhauer and Nietzsche; and A non-traditional reading of Hegel that invites comparison with cutting-edge Continental philosophers such as Adorno, Derrida, and Žižek, and even goes beyond them in its systematic approach. In making these discoveries, the author forges a new link between American and European philosophy, showing how they share similar insights and concerns. He also provides an original assessment of Dewey's relationship to his teacher, George Sylvester Morris, and to other important thinkers of the day, giving us a fresh picture of John Dewey, the man and the philosopher in the early years of his career. Readers will find a wide range of topics discussed, from Dewey's early reflections on Kant and Hegel to the nature of beauty, courage, sympathy, hatred, love, and even death and despair. This is a book for anyone interested in the thought of John Dewey, American pragmatism, Continental Philosophy, or a new idealism appearing on the scene.

Faith in Science Gabriel R. Ricci, 2018-01-18 There is growing academic interest in addressing the relationship of religion and science. There are also very generous funding sources that encourage scientists to demonstrate the reality of purpose in the world. Still, there are organizations offering support to community groups dedicated to discussing religion and science. Contributors explore this development in Faith in Science. The intellectual initiatives analyzed here seem far removed from the deep religious and cultural divisions that dominate the contemporary geopolitical landscape. This emerging industry, however, originates in a cultural debate that set the evolutionary view of Nature against revelation's conception of Nature as the fulfillment of God's creation. The two worldviews are hopelessly mismatched, although scientific creationism purports to have uncovered scriptural evidence that invites another look. Along the way, the imposition of theological themes onto the geological record became a tendency for many naturalists. Peter Medawar's scathing review of Teilhard de Chardin's The Phenomenon of Man in 1961 remains as a warning for those who mix Darwinian orthodoxy and theological parlance. The challenge Medawar would have us believe is not to abandon the exacting methods and logic of science in favor of a poetic dream of how consciousness is a manifestation of energy. But does this mean that science and religion are only methodologically demarcated? Must we insist on the traditional boundaries instituted by scientific conventions and religious beliefs? From various historical, religious, and scientific vantage points, contributors to this volume, who include Guy Consolmagno, Donald Kraybill, David Ray Griffin, Gerald L. Schroeder, Robert Pollack, Robert Pennock, Carol Wayne Wright, Bill

Durbin Kathleen Duffy and Anthony Matteo take up these challenges      Religion in Motion Julian Hensold, Jordan Kynes, Philipp Öhlmann, Vanessa Rau, Rosa Coco Schinagl, Adela Taleb, 2020-05-28 This volume offers innovative approaches to the study of religion It brings together junior and senior scholars from the Global North and South The contributors also explore the context specific formations of religion and religious knowledge production in an increasingly instable and incalculable globalized world In the spirit of the challenging slogan Religion in Motion Rethinking Religion Knowledge and Discourse in a Globalizing World the book bundles voices from a great variety of cultural and academic backgrounds It offers readers a cross continental exchange of innovative approaches in the study of religion Coverage intersects religion gender economics and politics In addition it de centers European perspectives and brings in perspectives from the Global South Chapters examine such topics as feminine power and agency in the Il Ax Oxum Abal queering the Trinity and faith and professionalism in humanitarian encounters in post earthquake Haiti Coverage also explores notions of development in African initiated churches and their implications for development policy the study of religion as the study of discourse construction rethinking the religion secularism binary in world politics and more This book will appeal to students and researchers with an interest in Religion and Society Philosophy and Religion and Religion and Gender      Black Race in Motion Wilfred Anthony Drummond, 2008      Biblical Studies in Motion Heerak Christian Kim, 2009 This reference contains academic papers by rising scholars trained in the United Kingdom      Treaties in Motion Malgosia Fitzmaurice, Panos Merkouris, 2020-06-25 The law of treaties is in constant motion understood not only as locomotion but also as motion through time and as change Thus kinesis and stasis two sides of the same concept of motion are the central themes of Treaties in Motion The concept of motion adopted in this book is based on the philosophy of Aristotle He identified six types of motion creation genesis increase auxesis diminution meiosis alteration alloiosis destruction phthora and change of place kata topon metabole which has been amended by the authors to change in space time kata topon kai chronon metavole to reflect our modern scientific understanding of time as a dimension through which motion and change occurs Each chapter s analysis proceeds by focusing on a specific area of a treaty s life cycle where each type of motion shines through and is described through three different frames of reference treaties the Vienna Convention of the Law of Treaties and customary law      Spiritual Power in Motion Ned Byron Pendergast, Lynne P.
