EMPIRE OF SHADOWS When the manipulator turned back the first thing he saw was a world rebuilt in the exact image of the darkness he had created No longer a campaign No longer a scheme This was an empire where belief machines operated autonomously without the hand of their creator Masks had now become true faces And in the intoxication of the crowds the one who awakened was merely a lost outlier Amory emerged from his meditation chamber bringing not light but the remnants of silence But what awaited him was not forgiveness but a paradox to save the world from darkness he had to understand its every fingerprint Every layer of anonymous power Every story rewritten by invisible keyboards That empire was not on any map It existed in the collective consciousness where people rejected truth for the comfort of meticulously designed lies Descending the mountain was not an awakening It was merely a re entry And this time Amory was no longer the scriptwriter but the main character in a tragicomedy he himself had initiated Screen Shots Rebecca L. Stein, 2021-06-01 In the last two decades amid the global spread of smartphones state killings of civilians have increasingly been captured on the cameras of both bystanders and police Screen Shots studies this phenomenon from the vantage point of the Israeli occupation of Palestinian territories Here cameras have proliferated as political tools in the hands of a broad range of actors and institutions including Palestinian activists Israeli soldiers Jewish settlers and human rights workers All trained their lens on Israeli state violence propelled by a shared dream that advances in digital photography closer sharper faster would advance their respective political agendas Most would be let down Drawing on ethnographic work Rebecca L. Stein chronicles Palestinian video activists seeking justice Israeli soldiers laboring to perfect the military's image and Zionist conspiracy theorists accusing Palestinians of playing dead Writing against techno optimism Stein investigates what camera dreams and disillusionment across these political divides reveal about the Israeli and Palestinian colonial present and the shifting terms of power and struggle in the smartphone age Proceedings of the 19th International Conference on Cyber Warfare and Security UK Dr. Stephanie J. Safetyland Frank Burg, 2021-07-28 The end of the world started quickly First came the flu which took many lives and overwhelmed the medical system People realized their confidence in the governing power was misplaced as the rich and privileged took advantage while the rest of the population fought to survive Then came the storms earthquakes tornados and hurricanes One disaster after another resulted in fear and panic that escalated to violence and insanity Some found solace in blaming the failure of humanity while others turned to God Still others ignored the mounting horror calling it fake news Those people claimed the planet was just going through a phase and that all would soon right itself Add global warming to the spreading illness and massive natural disasters and it appeared Earth would soon be uninhabitable for those who remained. Unbeknownst to many, a group of world leaders begins meeting in a covert location. Together they work with a supercomputer in the effort to at least save the memory of human society. This secret computer and an alien contact now offer a way to escape a dying planet. However, there isn't room for everyone, not even in the digital life, so how are the special few chosen and at what cost? The world is ending; how far would you go to survive? Military Intelligence Professional Bulletin, 1994
