Forty Years in the South Seas Anne Ford, Ben Shaw, Dylan Gaffney, 2024-05-09 This edited volume of invited chapters honours the four decades of fundamental research by archaeologist Glenn Summerhayes into the human prehistory of the islands of the western Pacific especially New Guinea and its offshore islands This area helped to shape and direct many ancient dispersal events associated with Homo sapiens initially from Africa more than 50 000 years ago through the lower latitudes of Asia into Australia New Guinea the

Bismarck Archipelago and possibly the Solomon Islands Around 3000 years ago coastal regions of northern and eastern New Guinea and the islands of Melanesia beyond played a major role in the Oceanic migrations of Austronesian speaking peoples from southern China and Southeast Asia migrations that have recently attained new levels of genetic complexity through the analysis of ancient DNA from human remains For the first time humans of both Southeast Asian and New Guinea Bismarck genetic origin reached the islands of Remote Oceania beyond the Solomons Many of the chapters in this book deal with archaeological aspects of this Austronesian maritime expansion which never seriously impacted the populations of the New Guinea Highlands especially as revealed through the analysis of Lapita pottery and associated artefacts Other chapters offer archaeological perspectives on trade and exchange and on related topics that extend into the ethnographic era The research of Glenn Summerhayes stands centrally amongst all these offerings ranging from the discovery of some of the oldest traces of Pleistocene human settlement in Papua New Guinea to documentation of the remarkable phenomenon of Lapita expansion through Melanesia into western Polynesia around 3000 years ago This volume is a fitting celebration of a remarkable career in western Pacific archaeology and population history Emeritus Professor Peter Bellwood The Australian National University

EBOOK: Principles and Practices of Marketing 10/e JOBBER AND ELLI, 2023-02-21 EBOOK Principles and Practices of Marketing 10 e Mobilizing for Development Kristen E. Looney, 2020-05-15 Mobilizing for Development tackles the question of how countries achieve rural development and offers a new way of thinking about East Asia's political economy that challenges the developmental state paradigm Through a comparison of Taiwan 1950s 1970s South Korea 1950s 1970s and China 1980s 2000s Kristen E Looney shows that different types of development outcomes improvements in agricultural production rural living standards and the village environment were realized to different degrees at different times and in different ways She argues that rural modernization campaigns defined as policies demanding high levels of mobilization to effect dramatic change played a central role in the region and that divergent development outcomes can be attributed to the interplay between campaigns and institutions The analysis departs from common portrayals of the developmental state as wholly technocratic and demonstrates that rural development was not just a byproduct of industrialization Looney's research is based on several years of fieldwork in Asia and makes a unique contribution by systematically comparing China's development experience with other countries Relevant to political science economic history rural sociology and Asian Studies the book enriches our understanding of state led development and agrarian change Strategic Marketing Douglas C. West, John Battice Ford, Essam Ibrahim, 2015 This text discusses how companies create competitive advantage through strategic marketing Using established frameworks and concepts it examines aspects of marketing strategy and thinking It provides examples to facilitate the understanding of theoretical concepts Hello World Hannah Fry, 2018-09-18 Shortlisted for the 2018 Baillie Gifford Prize and the 2018 Royal Society Investment Science Book Prize A beautifully accessible guide One of the best books yet written on data and algorithms Times UK If you were accused of a crime who would you rather decide your sentence a mathematically consistent algorithm incapable of empathy or a compassionate human judge prone to bias and error What if you want to buy a driverless car and must choose between one programmed to save as many lives as possible and another that prioritizes the lives of its own passengers And would you agree to share your family's full medical history if you were told that it would help researchers find a cure for cancer These are just some of the dilemmas that we are beginning to face as we approach the age of the algorithm when it feels as if the machines reign supreme Already these lines of code are telling us what to watch where to go whom to date and even whom to send to jail But as we rely on algorithms to automate big important decisions in crime justice healthcare transportation and money they raise questions about what we want our world to look like What matters most Helping doctors with diagnosis or preserving privacy Protecting victims of crime or preventing innocent people being falsely accused Hello World takes us on a tour through the good the bad and the downright ugly of the algorithms that surround us on a daily basis Mathematician Hannah Fry reveals their inner workings showing us how algorithms are written and implemented and demonstrates the ways in which human bias can literally be written into the code By weaving in relatable real world stories with accessible explanations of the underlying mathematics that power algorithms Hello World helps us to determine their power expose their limitations and examine whether they really are improvement on the human systems they replace

The Business of Gamification Mikolaj Dymek, Peter Zackariasson, 2016-09-13 At the turn of the century the term gamification was introduced as a concept to understand the process of using game mechanics in non game contexts The impact of gamification was soon evident to business practices where it had impact both on marketing and more broadly on the organizations themselves As the number of individuals playing video games grows there seem to be an acceptance of game mechanics elsewhere Its effectiveness is highly dependent on both technical possibilities and cultural acceptance two factors present today The aim of The Business of Gamification is to critically analyze the practical and theoretical consequences of gamification Practically how has gamification been applied in businesses to this point and what are the future scenarios Theoretically what are the contributions of gamification to existing academic knowledge How does this change our understanding of how business are performing and its consequences for organizations consumers and society in general This edited volume contains new and stringent perspectives on how gamification is contextualized in business settings both in theory as well as in practice This book will provide a wealth of research for individuals seriously interested in the industry at the academic level As a result this book will serve as a reference in curricula associated with video game development for years to come

Green, 2022-12-22

Industrialization and Assimilation examines the process of ethnic identity change in a broad historical context Green explains how and why ethnicity changes across time showing that by altering the basis of economic production from land to labour and removing people from the idiocy of rural life industrialization makes societies more ethnically homogenous More specifically the author argues that industrialization lowers the relative value of rural land leading people to identify less with narrow rural identities in favour of broader identities that can aid them in navigating the formal urban economy Using large scale datasets that span the globe as well as detailed case studies ranging from mid twentieth century Turkey to contemporary Botswana Somalia and Uganda as well as evidence from Native Americans in the United States and the M ori in New Zealand Industrialization and Assimilation provides a new framework to understand the origins of modern ethnic identities Disruptive Technology: Concepts,
