2012 GCSE English results Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education Committee,2013-06-11 The 2012 GCSE English results prompted significant controversy which ultimately resulted in an application for judicial review This report sets out the background to these events and identifies lessons to be learned The problems with GCSE English can be traced back to the 2007 09 development phase of the qualification in particular the turbulence which resulted from the shift away from a mostly linear to a modular system combined with a high proportion of controlled assessment and generous marking tolerances Exam board experts raised concerns at the time but these were not acted upon by the regulator the then interim Ofqual Further difficulties arose because of pressures from the school accountability system The problems experienced with GCSE English in 2012 highlighted serious weaknesses in the moderation of speaking and listening with consequences for grade awarding The current status of Ofqual as an independent regulator accountable to Parliament is the right one However the Coalition Government is bringing in wholesale changes to GCSEs and A levels to a tight timetable and at the same time Ofqual must have systems in place The Committee is also concerned that there is a rush towards separate exam systems for England Wales and Northern Ireland without careful reflection on what might be lost or consensus that this is the right thing to do

Psychology and Mathematics Education Gila Hanna,Laura Macchi,Karin Binder,Laura Martignon,Katharina Loibl,2023-09-05 Modern Mathematics is constructed rigorously through proofs based on truths which are either axioms or previously proven theorems Thus it is par excellence a model of rational inquiry Links between Cognitive Psychology and Mathematics Education have been particularly strong during the last decades Indeed the Enlightenment view of the rational human mind that reasons makes decisions and solves problems based on logic and probabilities was shaken during the second half of the twentieth century Cognitive psychologists discovered that humans thoughts and actions often deviate from rules imposed by strict normative theories of inference Yet these deviations should not be called errors as Cognitive Psychologists have demonstrated these deviations may be either valid heuristics that succeed in the environments in which humans have evolved or biases that are caused by a lack of adaptation to abstract

information formats Humans as the cognitive psychologist and economist Herbert Simon claimed do not usually optimize but rather satisfice even when solving problem This Research Topic aims at demonstrating that these insights have had a decisive impact on Mathematics Education We want to stress that we are concerned with the view of bounded rationality that is different from the one espoused by the heuristics and biases program In Simon s bounded rationality and its direct descendant ecological rationality rationality is understood in terms of cognitive success in the world correspondence rather than in terms of conformity to content free norms of coherence e g transitivity Mathematics and Technology Gilles Aldon, Fernando Hitt, Luciana Bazzini, Uwe Gellert, 2017-04-05 This volume collects most recent work on the role of technology in mathematics education It offers fresh insight and understanding of the many ways in which technological resources can improve the teaching and learning of mathematics The first section of the volume focuses on the question how a proposed mathematical task in a technological environment can influence the acquisition of knowledge and what elements are important to retain in the design of mathematical tasks in computing environments The use of white smart boards platforms as Moodle tablets and smartphones have transformed the way we communicate both inside and outside the mathematics classroom Therefore the second section discussed how to make efficient use of these resources in the classroom and beyond The third section addresses how technology modifies the way information is transmitted and how mathematical education has to take into account the new ways of learning through connected networks as well as new ways of teaching The last section is on the training of teachers in the digital era The editors of this volume have selected papers from the proceedings of the 65th 66th and 67th CIEAEM conference and invited the correspondent authors to contribute to this volume by discussing one of the four important topics The book continues a series of sourcebooks edited by CIEAEM the Commission Internationale pour l'étude et l'amélioration de l'Enseignement des Mathématiques International Commission for the Study and Improvement of Mathematics Education

Apprenticeships conducted in 2013 rated the overall effectiveness as good This was an improvement over the last inspection in 2009 rated as satisfactory now called requires improvement Some 28 per cent of Army recruits were less than 18 years of age Further information is needed on why the Army is so dependent on recruiting personnel under the age of 18 years compared to the other two Services and whether steps are being taken to reduce this dependency Of those recruited in 2012 3 5 per cent of the Army were rated at entry level 2 for literacy that of a 7 to 8 year old and 39 per cent had a literacy level of an eleven year old If as the MoD states it has to recruit personnel at whatever level of attainment is available then it should boost remedial action when recruitment entry standards are particularly low In light of changes brought about by Future Force 2020 it may be that recruiting personnel with higher levels of attainment would better meet the future needs of the Armed Forces Whilst the Committee recognises that some recruits may not be eager to take further academic exams the MoD should encourage more recruits to undertake English and Maths GCSEs which would stand them in good stead for future employment The MoD has carried out some useful pilot projects with paramedic training and should identify more potential projects to ensure that vital skills paid for by the MoD are not lost to the country
