Twenty-second Interim Report of the Committee on Acute Exposure Guideline Levels National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, Committee on Toxicology, Committee on Acute Exposure Guideline Levels, 2013-08-05

In 1991 the Environmental Protection Agency EPA and the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry ATSDR asked the National Research Council NRC to provide technical guidance for establishing community emergency exposure levels for extremely hazardous substances EHSs pursuant to the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986. As a result the NRC published Guidelines for Developing Community Emergency Exposure Levels for Hazardous Substances in 1993 and Standing Operating Procedures for Developing Acute Exposure Guideline Levels for Hazardous Substances in 2001 providing updated procedures, methods and other guidelines used by the National Advisory Committee NAC on Acute Exposure Guideline Levels. AEGLs for hazardous substances for assessing acute adverse health effects. Stemming from this report the NAC has developed AEGLs for at least 270 EHSs. There are currently three AEGLs: AEGL 1, AEGL 2, and AEGL 3. AEGL 1 is the airborne concentration of a substance above which it is predicted that the general population could experience notable discomfort, irritation, or certain asymptomatic nonsensory effects. These effects are not disabling and are transient and reversible once exposure is stopped. AEGL 2 is the airborne concentration of a substance above which it is predicted that the general population could experience irreversible, long-lasting adverse health effects or an impaired ability to escape. AEGL 3 is the airborne concentration of a substance above which it is predicted that the general population could experience life-threatening health effects or death. On April 22-24, 2013, the NRC established Committee on Acute Exposure Guideline Levels 2013 met to review AEGL documents approved by the NAC. The committee members were selected for their expertise in toxicology, medicine, industrial hygiene, biostatistics, and risk assessment. Twenty-second Interim Report of the Committee on Acute Exposure Guideline Levels presents a review of AEGLs for various chemicals including acrylonitrile, halogen fluorides.
