Memberships in these categories are not considered individual health insurance and therefore are not subject to the individual mandate. If you are in one of these categories, you do not need to purchase health insurance. Other categories are discussed in Chapter 12.

Health Plan Overview

Health Insurance

Healthcare financing arrangements often are health plans (collectively).

Significant differences between the Medicare and Medicaid programs ("the two big ones") involve, respectively, the eligibility and medical-coverage requirements for the programs, including the particular medical services the members are entitled to receive. Medicare is a health insurance program for individuals aged 65 and older, regardless of income. Medicaid is a health insurance program for individuals with low income.

Medicare and Medicaid are both plans and collectives that are subject to regulation. The purpose of the medical bill that describes the services that are covered is:
