Justice for People on the Move Gillian Brock, 2020-02-20 Offers a comprehensive framework that can assist in responding to new justice challenges for people on the move

Introducing Archaeology, Third Edition Robert J. Muckle, Stacey L. Camp, 2020-10-01 Now in its third edition Introducing Archaeology continues to be a lively and approachable textbook for introductory level students Covering traditional elements of archaeology including methods and prehistory the new edition also opens up greater conversations about the current state of archaeology discussing issues of representation inclusion and diversity in the field The authors highlight recent developments in digital and public archaeology as well as the social and political contexts of doing archaeological fieldwork A new prologue challenges common misconceptions about archaeology portrayed by mainstream media The result is a book that encourages students to critically examine the present by investigating the archaeological past The third edition features over 50 full color images and is accompanied by updated instructor materials and student resources For more information see www.introducingarchaeology.com

Teaching Big History Richard B. Simon, Mojgan Behmand, Thomas Burke, 2015 Big History is a new field on a grand scale it tells the story of the universe over time through a diverse range of disciplines that spans cosmology physics chemistry astronomy geology evolutionary biology anthropology and archaeology thereby reconciling traditional human history with environmental geography and natural history Weaving the myriad threads of evidence based human knowledge into a master narrative that stretches from the beginning of the universe to the present the Big History framework helps students make sense of their studies in all disciplines by illuminating the structures that underlie the universe and the connections among them Teaching Big History is a powerful analytic and pedagogical resource and serves as a comprehensive guide for teaching Big History as well for sharing ideas about the subject and planning a curriculum around it Readers are also given helpful advice about the administrative and organizational challenges of instituting a general education program constructed around Big History The book includes teaching materials examples and detailed sample exercises This book is also an engaging first hand account of how a group of professors built an entire Big History general education curriculum for first year students demonstrating how this thoughtful integration of disciplines exemplifies liberal education at its best and illustrating how teaching and learning this incredible story can be transformative for professors and students alike

Evolution, Morality and the Fabric of Society R. Paul Thompson, 2022-05-19 Recent interest in the evolution of the social contract is extended by providing a thoroughly naturalistic evolutionary account of the biological underpinnings of a social contract theory of morality This social contract theory of morality contractualism provides an evolutionary justification of the primacy of a moral principle of maximisation of the opportunities for evolutionary reproductive success ERS where maximising opportunities does not entail an obligation on individuals to choose to maximise their ERS From that primary principle the moral principles of inclusion individual sovereignty liberty and equality can be derived The implications of these principles within contractevolism are explored through an examination of patriarchy individual sovereignty and copulatory choices and overpopulation and extinction Contractevolism is grounded in evolutionary dynamics that resulted in humans and human societies The most important behavioural consequences of evolution to contractevolism are reciprocity cooperation empathy and the most important cognitive consequences are reason and behavioural modification

Geomorphology of Desert Environments Anthony J. Parsons,A. D. Abrahams,2009-03-20 About one third of the Earth s land surface experiences a desert climate and this area supports approximately 15% of the planet s population This percentage continues to grow and with this growth comes the need to acquire and apply an understanding of desert geomorphology Such an understanding is vital in managing scarce and fragile resources and in mitigating natural hazards This authoritative reference book is comprehensive in its coverage of the geomorphology of desert environments and is arranged thematically It begins with an overview of global deserts proceeds through treatments of weathering hillslopes rivers piedmonts lake basins and aeolian surfaces and concludes with a discussion of the role of climatic change Written by a team of international authors all of whom are active in the field the chapters cover the spectrum of desert geomorphology

Societies Past and Present Thomas C. Burr,2025-09-24 This global and comparative history examines the evolution of human societies over many millennia illuminating patterns within societies today It shows how the original human groups bands of hunter gatherers grew over time into larger and more complex societies through three major transformations settlement and domestication the development of complexity and inequality and industrial globalization The book describes how each of these major changes in economy and political structure created new types of societies villages chiefdoms and other complex societies agrarian states and empires and today s global social system It therefore shows how different types of societies came to co exist and interact on Earth The book compares societies along seven aspects their economies political systems cultural patterns inequalities family structures demographics and environmental patterns It shows that even societies that shared similar basic features still exhibited great variety The comparative framework presented here helps readers develop a conceptual vocabulary for understanding societies the larger social systems within which they exist and the major social changes that led to this continuing expansion

Past Mistakes David Mountain,2020-11-05 A welcome ally in the fight against fake history Eleanor Janega author of The Middle Ages From the fall of Rome to the rise of the Wild West David Mountain brings colour and perspective to historical mythmaking The stories we tell about our past matter But those stories have been shaped by prejudice hoaxes and misinterpretations that have whitewashed entire chapters of history erased women and invented civilisations Today history is often used to justify xenophobia nationalism and inequality as we cling to grand origin stories and heroic tales of extraordinary men Exploring myths mysteries and misconceptions about the past from the legacies of figures like Pythagoras and Christopher Columbus to the realities of life in the gun toting Wild West to the archaeological digs that have upset our understanding of the birth of civilisation David Mountain reveals how ongoing revolutions in history and archaeology are shedding light on the truth Full of adventures and based on detailed research and interviews Past Mistakes will make you reconsider your understanding of history and of the world today Past Mistakes takes what we think we remember from history class and sets the record straight Definitely worth reading if you re ready to have your mind blown and then be filled with rage that you ve been hoodwinked for this long The Tiny Activist General History of Africa UNESCO International Committee for the New Volumes of the General History of Africa,2025-10-18 Climate Change and Anthropos Linda Connor,2016-02-05 Anthropos in the sense of species as well as cultures and ethics locates humans as part of much larger orders of existence fundamental when thinking about climate change This book offers a new way of exploring the significance of locality and lives in the epoch of the Anthropocene a time when humans confront the limits of our control over nature Many scholars now write about the ethics policies and politics of climate change focussing on global processes and effects The book s innovative approach to cross cultural comparison and a regionally based study explores people s experiences of environmental change and the meaning of climate change for diverse human worlds in a changing biosphere The main study site is the Hunter Valley in southeast Australia an ecological region defined by the Hunter River catchment a dwelling place for many generations of people and a key location for transnational corporations focussed on the mining burning and export of black coal Abundant fossil fuel reserves tie Hunter people and places to the Asia Pacific the engine room of global economic growth in the twenty first century and the largest user of the planet s natural resources The book analyses the nexus of place and perceptions political economy and social organisation in situations where environmental changes are radically transforming collective worlds Based on an anthropological approach informed by other ways of thinking about environment people relationships this book analyses the social and cultural dimensions of climate change holistically Each chapter links the large scales of species and planet with small places commodity chains local actions myths and values as well as the mingled strands of dystopian imaginings and strivings for recuperative renewal in an era of transition Human origin sites and the World Heritage Convention in Africa - N° 33 Nuria Sanz,2012 Uses examples of artistic work in all media in order to show how contemporary artists have adapted their vision in a manipulation of modern materials to satisfy mankind s needs for spiritual satisfaction through art
