Breaking Ranks Colin Diver,2022-04-12 Some colleges will do anything to improve their national ranking That can be bad for their students and for higher education Since U S News World Report first published a college ranking in 1983 the rankings industry has become a self appointed judge declaring winners and losers among America s colleges and universities In this revealing account Colin Diver shows how popular rankings have induced college applicants to focus solely on pedigree and prestige while tempting educators to sacrifice academic integrity for short term competitive advantage By forcing colleges into standardized best college hierarchies he argues rankings have threatened the institutional diversity intellectual rigor and social mobility that is the genius of American higher education As a former university administrator who refused to play the game Diver leads his readers on an engaging journey through the mysteries of college rankings admissions financial aid spending policies and academic practices He explains how most dominant college rankings perpetuate views of higher education as a purely consumer good susceptible to unidimensional measures of brand value and prestige Many rankings he asserts also undermine the moral authority of higher education by encouraging various forms of distorted behavior misrepresentation and outright cheating by ranked institutions The recent Varsity Blues admissions scandal for example happened in part because affluent parents wanted to get their children into elite schools by any means necessary Explaining what is most useful and important in evaluating colleges Diver offers both college applicants and educators a guide to pursuing their highest academic goals freed from the siren song of the best college illusion Ultimately he reveals how to break ranks with a rankings industry that misleads its consumers undermines academic values and perpetuates social inequality

From Teach For America to Teach For China Sara Lam,2019-11-13 This book examines the role of Teach For China in addressing educational equity and expanding public participation in education The author uses the case of Teach For China to explore the broader theme of the mobility of education models between contexts characterized by neoliberalism and those characterized by strong state control Transnational advocacy networks are increasingly influential in the education policy making process These networks comprised of entrepreneurs and education corporations think tanks philanthropists and government agencies facilitate the global mobility of policy models It is widely accepted that an education model should not be transplanted from one context to another without careful consideration of how contextual differences might impact the model s effectiveness The book explores the argument that the same model is not only quantitatively different in terms of effectiveness but that models can play qualitatively different roles in neoliberal and strong state contexts sometimes moving education reform in opposite directions The book will appeal to anyone interested in global teacher education reform and equity in education
