Grade1tourism June Question Paper F

David Harrison, Richard Sharpley

Grade1tourism June Question Paper F:

Mass Tourism in a Small World David Harrison,Richard Sharpley,2017-05-26 This new book reviews all aspects of the phenomenon of mass tourism It covers theoretical perspectives including political economy ethics sustainability and environmentalism the historical context and the current challenges to domestic intra regional and international mass tourism As tourism and tourist numbers continue to grow around the world it becomes increasingly important that this subject is studied in depth and best practice applied in real life situations Finishing with a speculative chapter identifying potential future trends and challenges this book forms an essential resource for all researchers and students within tourism studies

Political Ecology of Tourism Mary Mostafanezhad,Roger Norum,Eric J. Shelton,Anna Thompson-Carr,2016-01-08 Why has political ecology been assigned so little attention in tourism studies despite its broad and critical interrogation of environment and politics As the first full length treatment of a political ecology of tourism the collection addresses this lacuna and calls for the further establishment of this emerging interdisciplinary subfield Drawing on recent trends in geography anthropology and environmental and tourism studies Political Ecology of Tourism Communities Power and the Environment employs a political ecology approach to the analysis of tourism through three interrelated themes Communities and Power Conservation and Control and Development and Conflict While geographically broad in scope with chapters that span Central and South America to Africa and South Southeast and East Asia to Europe and Greenland the collection illustrates how tourism related environmental challenges are shared across prodigious geographical distances while also attending to the nuanced ways they materialize in local contexts and therefore demand the historically situated place based and multi scalar approach of political ecology This collection advances our understanding of the role of political economic and environmental concerns in tourism practice It offers readers a political ecology framework from which to address tourism related issues and themes such as development identity politics environmental subjectivities environmental degradation land and resources conflict and indigenous ecologies Finally the collection is bookended by a pair of essays from two of the most distinguished scholars working in the subfield Rosaleen Duffy foreword and James Igoe afterword This collection will be valuable reading for scholars and practitioners alike who share a critical interest in the intersection of tourism politics and the environment

Tourism and Sustainability Martin Mowforth,Ian Munt,2015-12-22 By January 2015 the world s richest 80 people had as much wealth as the poorest 50 per cent of the world s population It is a global unevenness through which the barriers to in migration of Third World migrants to wealthy First World nations go ever higher while the barriers to travel in the reverse direction are all but extinct So how exactly does tourism contribute to narrowing this glaring inequality between the rich and poor Are ever expanding tourism markets a smoke free socioculturally sensitive form of human industrialisation Is alternative tourism really a credible lever for reducing global inequality and eliminating poverty Tourism and Sustainability critically explores the most significant universal geopolitical norms of the last half century development globalisation and sustainability and through the lens of new forms of tourism demonstrates how we can better get to grips with the rapidly changing new global order The fourth edition has been extensively revised and updated and benefits from the addition of new material on climate change and tourism Drawing on a range of examples from across the Third World Mowforth and Munt expertly illustrate the social economic and environmental conditions that continue to affect the tourism industry With the first edition hailed by Geoffrey Wall as one of the most significant books produced on tourism since the turn of the millennium Tourism and Sustainability remains the essential resource for students of human geography environmental sciences and studies politics development studies anthropology and business studies as well as tourism itself

Tourism and Socio-Economic Transformation of Rural Areas Joanna Kosmaczewska, Walenty Poczta, 2021-05-24 This book aims to fill a gap in the current literature by tracing the rural transformation process and the development of rural tourism functions in Poland over the last 30 years It examines the socioeconomic transformation between 1989 and 2019 that resulted in the formation and development of Polish rural tourism and the various practices associated with it This timely topic is addressed in a central and eastern European context and sparks interest in further in depth analysis due the diversity and magnitude of the transformation processes undertaken by the Polish rural areas Since Polish rural areas constitute as much as 30% of the total rural areas in all new European Union member states this book adds value through an in depth statistical analysis of the pace of socioeconomic changes in Polish rural areas It delves into the creation and consumption of tourism services locally as well as the impact of global trends on the development of rural tourism in Poland This book will be of interest to economists sociologists political scientists and postgraduate students across eastern and central Europe who deal with rural tourism issues

Tourism and Citizenship Raoul Bianchi, Marcus Stephenson, 2014-02-24 More than sixty years since the 1948 Universal Declaration of Human Rights first enshrined the right to freedom of movement in an international charter of human rights the issue of mobility and the right to tourism itself have become increasingly significant areas of scholarly interest and political debate However despite the fact that cross border travel implies certain citizenship rights as well as the material capacity to travel the manifold intersections between tourism and citizenship have not received the attention they deserve in the literature This book endeavours to fill this gap by being the first to fully examine the role of tourism in wider society through a critically informed sociological reflection on the unfolding relationships between international tourism and distinct renderings of citizenship with particular emphasis on the ideological and political alignments between the freedom of movement and the right to travel The text weaves its analysis of citizenship and travel in the context of addressing large scale societal transformations engendered by globalization neoliberalism and the geopolitical realignments between states as well as comprehending the internal reconfiguring of the relationship between citizens and states themselves By doing so it focuses on key themes including tourism and social citizenship rights race culture and minority rights states markets and the freedom of movement tourism peace and geo politics consumerism and class and ethical tourism global citizenship and cosmopolitanism The book concludes that the advancement of genuinely democratic and just forms of tourism must be commensurate with demands for distributive justice and a democratic politics of mobility encompassing all of humanity This timely and significant contribution to the sociology and politics of international tourism through the lens of citizenship is a must read for students and scholars in both in the fields of tourism and social science The royalties received from this book will be donated to the International Porter Protection Group

Film-induced Tourism Sue Beeton, 2005-01-01 Film induced tourism has the potential to revitalise flagging regional rural communities and increase tourism to urban centres however it carries with it unique problems This book explores the downside of the phenomenon

Safety and Security in Tourism Noel Scott, Eric Laws, Bruce Prideaux, 2013-09-13 Natural disasters wars and conflicts epidemics and other major crises can devastate a tourism service or destination Though there is extensive literature and research on preparation and coping with tourism crises there is a gap in information on how to best market and recover from the destruction of caused to tourism businesses and destinations This book fills the gap by comprehensively examining how to rebuild the market for a tourism service or destination after a catastrophe This important book presents leading experts from around the world providing useful instruction on effective ways to plan for future crisis response and strategies for recovering business A crisis may arise from several types of destructive occurrences from natural physical destruction of important infrastructure to acts of terrorism Because of the broad range of potential problems there is no single strategy for which to deal with crises The book explores a wide range of catastrophes from Hurricane Katrina to tsunamis to war taking a detailed look at management and administrative strategies which can help stimulate tourism recovery This book explores stealth and catastrophic risks risk perceptions mediating the effects of natural disasters on travel intention and various marketing strategies designed to bring customers back This volume may become one of the most crucial resources in a tourism professional s library The book is extensively referenced and includes several tables and figures to clearly explain data This book is essential reading for tourism researchers tourism educators tourism industry managers and tourism industry administrators This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Travel Tourism Marketing

Food and Agricultural Tourism Susan Slocum, Kynda Curtis, 2017-10-12 This book fills a gap in the growing academic discipline of food and agricultural tourism offering the first multidisciplinary approach to food tourism and the role it plays in economic development destination marketing and gastronomic exploration It provides a comprehensive introduction to the discipline by considering food tourism in connection with both cultural values and important issues in agriculture food consumption and safety and rural heritage and sustainability The book is divided into four Parts Part I defines the elements of food tourism and explains its relationship with sustainability Part II provides an overview of rural development and demonstrates the impact of industrialization and globalization on eating habits Part III focuses on food tourism studies and market segmentation techniques to help students understand customer needs regarding food tourism products Finally Part IV looks at the financial policy and legal requirements relating to food tourism development providing hands on tools for students entering food tourism businesses or industries Complemented by a wide range of international case studies key definitions and study questions Food and Agricultural Tourism is essential reading for students of tourism geography and economic development studies Tourism and Innovation C. Michael Hall, Allan M. Williams, 2008-02-19 Tourism is often described as an industry with high growth rates and it is subject to radical change in how it is produced and consumed However there is still a relatively poor understanding of how such changes are brought about that is through innovation This book is the first to provide a comprehensive review of innovation in tourism while also considering how tourism itself contributes to innovative local regional and national development strategies This timely book places tourism innovation in the context of current academic and policy concerns relating to knowledge competition and the management of change A substantial introductory chapter provides an overview of what makes innovation in tourism both distinctive from and similar to innovation in other economic sectors This is followed by three general scene setting chapters which explore how competition and the search for competitiveness drive tourism innovation how knowledge transfers and knowledge creation lead the process and how institutions shape innovation These provide a coherent theoretical framework for understanding the roles of different agencies in innovation ranging from the state to the firm to the consumer The next four chapters analyze innovation at different scales Two chapters review the territorial dimensions of innovation through the fresh perspectives of the national and regional innovation systems followed by reviews of the determinants of innovation in the firm and the contested and complex role of entrepreneurship The final chapter summarises the importance of understanding tourism innovation This is a groundbreaking volume which provides an accessible introduction to a key but neglected topic It provides a readable account of the multidisciplinary research on innovation and relates the emerging theoretical framework to tourism A clear conceptual framework is complemented by fifty boxes which provide a range of illustrative international case studies This book will be a useful guide for researchers and students of tourism studies management and business and geography Tourism and Its Effects on Southeast Alaska Communities and Resources Lee K. Cervený, 2008 Tourism has become integral to southeast Alaska s regional economy has resulted in changes to the social cultural fabric of community life as well as to natural resources used by Alaskans This study incorporates an ethnographic approach to trace tourism development in three rural southeast Alaska communities featuring different levels types of tourism In addition the effects of tourism from the perspectives of local residents are explored including economic effects sociocultural effects effects on human uses of natural resources Illustrations
