

THE HUMAN BODY

A detailed anatomical illustration of the human torso, focusing on the respiratory and circulatory systems. The lungs are depicted in a translucent pink color, showing the bronchial tree and internal structures. The heart is visible in the center, with red and blue vessels representing oxygenated and deoxygenated blood flow. The rib cage and spine are shown in a translucent blue color, providing a structural context for the internal organs. The overall style is scientific and educational, with a dark background that makes the colored organs stand out.
