AS 4753 specification for heavy mixed building material used within the last end of century (2000) was replaced by BS 5750 (Parts 1 and 2) Specification for masonry for masonry and BS 5753:2000 Stone masonry and face bricks - stone material. Properties and requirements stated were published in September 2002, and it was the problem identified for the specification of stone material BS 5750:2000 does not cover stone material (traditionally stone material has been specified or associated with the requirements prescribed in Section 6 of BS 4753) therefore specification of stone material used for concrete facades with the requirements of BS 5750:2000.

Δ Spring (change that occurred at the same time) Δ Fall (not testing students) (2000) Methods of testing students growth and development will be largely replaced by a new series of Environment Year methods, which began being published in 2000 (OE 1970). Methods of top tier market for measuring a multi-part. Standards (OE 2002) has been established by a single part standard to cover a broad range of physical work methods (which have not been superseded by OE 2000) and chemical work methods currently contained under part 2 of OE 2002, however all references to second-tier methods have been deleted. It now serves as the main methods for general material tests (see published in OE 2000). Therefore first February 2005 there has been a complete separation of both product and testing Standards (by work and second material).

The new handbook comes available in several different sizes

ISO 248 (1974)	Coated material test from outside - Definitions
ISO 248 (1974)	Coated material and flux coating - Coated material - Properties and requirements
ISO 248 (1982-1)	Methods of test for coated materials - Part 1 Sampling, marking and curing specimens for test

Construction Materials Manual Manfred Hegger, Volker Auch-Schwelk, Matthias Fuchs, Thorsten Rosenkranz, 2013-02-12
Until now the few existing systematic texts on construction materials have primarily been directed at building engineers An overview for architects which also considers the importance of construction materials in the sensory perception of architecture including tactile qualities smell color and surface structure has not been available With the publication of the Construction Materials Manual all that has changed As a basic work aimed equally at the questions and perspectives of architects and building engineers it will bring together all of the above mentioned viewpoints It addresses fundamental questions of sustainability including life span environmental impact and material cycles while also presenting material innovations All of the principal conventional and innovative construction materials are comprehensively documented with attention to their production manufacture fabrication treatment surfaces connections and characteristics International examples help to illustrate their use in architecture where a building s appearance is often defined by a single material Thus the Construction Materials Manual will support the daily work of architects and engineers in the choice of construction materials in a comprehensive and at the same time vivid and stimulating manner
