Ghost Stories for Darwin Banu Subramaniam, 2014-10-15 In a stimulating interchange between feminist studies and biology Banu Subramaniam explores how her dissertation on flower color variation in morning glories launched her on an intellectual odyssey that engaged the feminist studies of sciences in the experimental practices of science by tracing the central and critical idea of variation in biology Subramaniam reveals the histories of eugenics and genetics and their impact on the metaphorical understandings of difference and diversity that permeate common understandings of differences among people exist in contexts that seem distant from the so called objective hard sciences Journeying into interdisciplinary areas that range from the social history of plants to speculative fiction Subramaniam uncovers key relationships between the life sciences women's studies evolutionary and invasive biology and the history of ecology and how ideas of diversity and difference emerged and persist in each field Girish Chandra Ghosh Utpal Datta, 1992 On the works of Girishchandra

Edward Elgar Christopher Grogan, 2020-12-02 The first full length study of the English composer's complex interaction with his physical environment and its new relevance in the 21st century More perhaps than any other composer Edward Elgar 1857 1934 has gained the status of an icon of locality his music seemingly inextricably linked to the English landscape in which he worked This the first full length study of Elgar's complex interaction with his physical environment explores how it is that such associations are formed and whether it is in any sense true that Elgar alchemized landscape into music It argues that Elgar stands at the apex of an English tradition going back to Blake in which creative artists in all media have identified and warned against the self harm of environmental degradation and that following a period in which these ideas were swept away by the swift but shallow tide of Modernism in the decades after the First World War they have since resurfaced with a new relevance and urgency for twenty first century society Written with the non specialist in mind yet drawing on the rich resources of post millennial scholarship on Elgar as well as geographical studies of place the book also includes many new insights relating to such aspects of Elgar's output as his use of landscape typology in The Apostles and his encounter with Modernism in the late chamber music It also calls on the resources of contemporary social commentary poetry and especially English landscape art to place Elgar and his thought in the broader cultural milieu of his time A survey of recent recordings is included in the hope that listeners both familiar and unfamiliar with Elgar's music will feel inspired to embark on a voyage of re discovery of its endlessly rewarding treasures Making Threats Betsy Hartmann, Banu

Subramaniam, Charles Zerner, 2005-11-01 Today we live in times of proliferating fears The daily updates on the ongoing war on terror amplify fear and anxiety as if they were necessary and important aspects of our reality Concerns about the environment increasingly take center stage as stories and images abound about deadly viruses alien species invasions scarcity of oil water food safety of GMOs biological weapons and fears of overpopulation Making Threats Biofears and

Environmental Anxieties addresses how such environmental and biological fears are used to manufacture threats to individual national and global security Contributors from environmental studies political science international security biology sociology and anthropology discuss what they share in common the view that fears should be critically examined to avoid unnecessary alarm and scapegoating of people and nations as the enemy Other In these highly original and thought provoking essays Making Threats focuses on five themes security scarcity purity circulation and terror No other book has systematically examined the proliferation of fear in the context of current world events and from such a multidisciplinary perspective It consolidates in one place cutting edge research and reflection on how the contemporary landscape of fear shapes and is shaped by environmental and biological discourses By uncovering the linguistic tools that make fear resonate in the public consciousness by identifying the interests that create or are sustained by fears in short by giving fears histories Making Threats Biofears and Environmental Anxieties engages with some of the most potent and disturbing political and cultural aspects of the contemporary scene The School newspaper Vol. [2 issues of vols. 31 and 32]. ,1876

Margaret's Monsters Michael E. Heyes,2019-12-06 St Margaret of Antioch was one of the most popular saints in medieval England and throughout the Middle Ages the various Lives of St Margaret functioned as a blueprint for a virginal life and supernatural assistance to pregnant women during the dangerous process of labor In her narrative Margaret is accosted by various demons and having defeated each monster in turn she is taken to the place of her martyrdom where she prays for supernatural boons for her adherents This book argues that Margaret s monsters are a key element in understanding Margaret s importance to her adherents specifically how the sexual identities of her adherents were constructed and maintained More broadly this study offers three major contributions to the field of medieval studies first it argues for the utility of a diachronic analysis of Saints Lives literature in a field dominated by synchronic analyses second this diachronic analysis is important to interpreting the intertext of Saints Lives not only between different Lives but also different versions of the same Life and third the approach further suggests that the most valuable socio cultural information in hagiographic literature is found in the auxiliary characters and not in the figure of the saint him herself A Universal and Critical Dictionary of the English Language Joseph Emerson Worcester,1846 The Survival of People and Languages: Schooners, Goats and Cassava in St. Barthélemy, French West Indies Julianne Maher,2013-08-01 In The Survival of People and Languages Schooners Goats and Cassava in St Barthelemy French West Indies Julianne Maher explains a rare linguistic anomaly how a small homogeneous population of seventeenth century French settlers in the tiny island of St Barth came to speak four separate languages With a range of historical documents and eighteenth century eye witness accounts Maher reconstructs the island s social ecology that led to its fragmentation The four speech varieties are closely examined and analyzed using extensive native speaker interviews with the impending demise of these languages such documentation is unique Maher concludes that social factors such as poverty economics geography and small population size served to maintain linguistic barriers on the island for over two hundred fifty years Farmers' Fowls George Bradshaw,1907

Miscellaneous dialogues Walter Savage Landor,1883 The first contest for Singapore, 1819-1824 Joe Marks,2014-11-14 Ben Jonson Ian Donaldson,2012-02-20 Ben Jonson was the greatest of Shakespeare s contemporaries In the century following his death he was seen by many as the finest of all English writers living or dead His fame rested not only on the numerous plays he had written for the theatre but on his achievements over three decades as principal masque writer to the early Stuart court where he had worked in creative and often stormy collaboration with Inigo Jones One of the most accomplished poets of the age he had become in fact if not in title the first Poet Laureate in England Jonson s life was full of drama Serving in the Low Countries as a young man he overcame a Spanish adversary in single combat in full view of both the armies His early satirical play The Isle of Dogs landed him in prison and brought all theatrical activity in London to a temporary and very nearly to a permanent standstill He was almost at the gallows for killing a fellow actor after a quarrel and converted to Catholicism while awaiting execution He supped with the Gunpowder conspirators on the eve of their planned coup at Westminster After satirizing the Scots in Eastward Ho he was imprisoned again and throughout his career was repeatedly interrogated about plays and poems thought to contain seditious or slanderous material In his middle years twenty stone in weight he walked to Scotland and back seemingly partly to fulfil a wager and partly to see the land of his forebears He travelled in Europe as tutor to the mischievous son of Sir Walter Raleigh who caused him to be drunken and dead drunk and wheeled provocatively through the streets of Paris During his later years he presided over a sociable club in the Apollo Room in Fleet Street mixed with the most learned scholars of his day and viewed with keen interest the political religious and scientific controversies of the day Ian Donaldson s new biography draws on freshly discovered writings by and about Ben Jonson and locates his work within the social and intellectual contexts of his time Jonson emerges from this study as a more complex and volatile character than his own self declarations and much modern scholarship would allow and as a writer whose work strikingly foresees and at times pre emptively satirizes the modern age The Windsor Magazine ,1901 Humble Works for Humble People Noel Wilkins,2017-11-01 This fully illustrated book explores the history of the fishery piers and harbours of Galway and north Clare A testament to these structures as feats of engineering it is also a riveting account of the human aspect that shadowed their construction a beautiful rendering of the maritime activities that gave life to the Wild Atlantic Way kelp making fishing turf distribution and sea borne trade Humble Works for Humble People nurtures the retelling of human stories surrounding the piers giving voice to the unacknowledged legacy of the lives that were their making The Office of Public Works the Congested Districts Board foreign financial support humanitarian efforts controversies and conflict these are all features of the piers and harbours development and preservation Humble Works for Humble People is a vital contribution to the maritime history of Galway Clare and of Ireland in general an overlooked but culturally rich facet of Irish history Kinaesthesia and Classical Antiquity 1750-1820 Helen Slaney,2020-09-03 This book argues that touch and movement played a significant role long overlooked in generating perceptions of ancient material culture in the late 18th century At this time the reception of classical antiquity had been transformed Interactions with material culture ruins sculpture and artefacts formed the core of this transformation Some such interactions were proto archaeological such as the Dilettanti expeditions to Athens and Asia Minor others were touristic seen in the guidebooks consulted by travellers to Rome and the diaries they composed and others creative resulting in novels poetry and dance performances Some involved the reproduction of experience in a gallery or museum setting What all encounters with ancient material culture had in common however is their haptic sensory basis The sense typically associated with the Enlightenment is vision but this has obscured the equally important contribution made by touch and movement to the way in which a newly materialised Graeco Roman world was perceived Kinaesthesia or the sense of self movement is rarely recognised in its own right but because all encounters with sites and objects are embodied and all embodiment takes place in motion this sense is vital to forming more abstract or imaginative impressions Theories of embodied cognition propose that all intellectual processes are also physical This book shows how ideas about classical antiquity in the volatile milieu of the late 18th century developed as a result of diverse kinaesthetic relationships The Oxford History of Ireland Robert Fitzroy Foster, 2001

Under the editorship of R F Foster a team of distinguished Irish historians has produced a challenging assessment of Ireland's history invaluable for the student and general reader alike Their approach stresses the ancient rooted nature of Irish culture but also looks beyond received ideas of Irish history to explore the patterns of fragmentation and change which have been characteristic of Ireland's past The long contested question of Irish identity and its relation to language is also fruitfully examined The text of this book originally published in The Oxford Illustrated History of Ireland is usefully supplemented with a chronology of Irish history maps and suggestions for further reading Test of Time Charles Harrington Elster, 2004
