

PROBLEM 1: After class activity 10.1, we have _____.

Part 1: The Distribution of Sample Means is the distribution of sample means for all the possible random samples of a particular size (n) that can be selected from a population. Let's assume that the distribution of sample means of age for all possible samples with a size of $n=25$ from a distribution among Dutch men has parameters: $\mu=35$, $\sigma=10$, $\mu=35$, $\sigma=10$, and $n=25$.

1. For this population (or, the shape of the distribution), what is the mean age? _____

Complete the table below by filling in all possible sample means $\bar{x}$ and write their respective standard deviations. There are 10000 possible sample means for random samples of size $n=25$.

$\bar{x}$	$\sigma_{\bar{x}}$	Sample Mean
25	10	25
26	10	26
27	10	27
28	10	28

Copy this table from Excel, input the first 10, and repeat this in Excel (Data > Fill > Series > Generate from Sample Mean > variable in the tabulated box, select 10000, and create all 10000 sample means).

2. What is the mean of age in the sample mean? (or, what does the mean of sample means for age?) _____
3. Does the sample size change the distribution of sample means, make the mean age of the population that you calculated in 10.1 above? (filling in relevant?) _____

Using the same population, would we the distribution of sample means for all possible samples of size $n=10$?

$\bar{x}$	$\sigma_{\bar{x}}$	$\bar{x}$	$\sigma_{\bar{x}}$	Sample Mean
25	10	26	10	26

4. What is the mean of age in the distribution of sample means? _____
5. Comparing to the sample means from the first table, the distribution of sample means from this population would be the same as the population mean? (filling in relevant?) _____
6. _____
