D'après un manuscrit rédigé en 1815, par un général d'alors, et revu en 1855, pour être mis en harmonie avec les connaissances et l'organisation du jour. Deuxième édition. [By E. Bonneau de Martray.],1855 Books and the British Army in the Age of the American Revolution Ira D. Gruber,2010-10-25 Historians have long understood that books were important to the British army in defining the duties of its officers regulating tactics developing the art of war and recording the history of campaigns and commanders Now in this groundbreaking analysis Ira D Gruber identifies which among over nine hundred books on war were considered most important by British officers and how those books might have affected the army from one era to another By examining the preferences of some forty two officers who served between the War of the Spanish Succession and the French Revolution Gruber shows that by the middle of the eighteenth century British officers were discriminating in their choices of books on war and further that their emerging preference for Continental books affected their understanding of warfare and their conduct of operations in the American Revolution In their increasing enthusiasm for books on war Gruber concludes British officers were laying the foundation for the nineteenth century professionalization of their nation's officer corps Gruber's analysis is enhanced with detailed and comprehensive bibliographies and tables Catalogue of the Library of the Boston Athenæum Boston Athenaeum,1876 Catalogue of the Library of the Boston Athenaeum Boston Athenaeum,1874 A New Classified Catalogue of the Library of the Royal Institution of Great Britain, with Indexes of Authors and Subjects, and a List of Historical Pamphlets, Chronologically Arranged Royal Institution of Great Britain. Library,William G. Harris,1821      Rome's Armies to the Death of Augustus Tony McArthur,2024-09-30 National armies as we know them today are a comparatively recent development It has been assumed that the Romans had an army similar to the national institutions of advanced almost exclusively European powers at the end of the nineteenth century But the assumption was wrong as is the belief that changes seen in the armies can be explained because the Romans reformed their armies Up to the death of Augustus the Romans had no permanent military forces Roman armies were raised for particular campaigns and disbanded at their conclusion Repeated campaigns were conducted in places like northern Italy and Spain but the armies were always disbanded These armies were not seen by Romans as part of a national institution as modern armies are they were simply a part of the life of a Roman citizen like religion or elections These armies were more like a militia than a national army There is little evidence even of systematic training and what changes can be detected can be better explained by contingent adaptation to circumstances rather than reform The emperor Augustus is commonly seen as the originator of the imperial armies but it was an unintended outcome of a long life      Alphabetical Catalogue of the War Department Library (including Law Library) United States.
