Planned Violence Elleke Boehmer, Dominic Davies, 2018-11-29 This book brings the insights of social geographers and cultural historians into a critical dialogue with literary narratives of urban culture and theories of literary cultural production In so doing it explores new ways of conceptualizing the relationship between urban planning its often violent effects and literature Comparing the spatial pasts and presents of the post imperial and post colonial cities of London Delhi and Johannesburg but also including case studies of other cities such as Chicago Belfast Jerusalem and Mumbai Planned Violence investigates how that iconic site of modernity the colonial city was imagined by its planners and how this urban imagination and the cultural and social interventions that arose in response to it made violence a part of the everyday social life of its subjects Throughout however the collection also explores the extent to which literary and cultural productions might actively resist infrastructures of planned violence and imagine alternative ways of inhabiting post colonial city spaces

Re-Inventing the Postcolonial (in the) Metropolis Cecile Sandten, Annika Bauer, 2016-09-27 The notion of the postcolonial metropolis has gained prominence in the last two decades both within and beyond postcolonial studies Disciplines such as sociology and urban studies however have tended to focus on the economic inequalities class disparities and other structural and formative aspects of the postcolonial metropolises that are specific to Western conceptions of the city at large It is only recently that the depiction of postcolonial metropolises has been addressed in the writings of Suketu Mehta Chris Abani Amit Chaudhuri Salman Rushdie Aravind Adiga Helon Habila Sefi Atta and Zakes Mda among others Most of these works probe the urban specifics and physical and cultural topographies of postcolonial cities while highlighting their agential capacity to defy appropriate and abrogate the superimposition of theories of Western modernity and urbanism These ASNEL Papers are all concerned with the idea of the postcolonial in the metropolis from various disciplinary viewpoints as drawn from a great range of cityscapes spread out over five continents The essays explore on the one hand ideas of spatial subdivision and inequality political repression social discrimination economic exploitation and cultural alienation and on the other the possibility of transforming reinventing and reconfiguring the postcolonial condition in and through literary texts and visual narratives In this context the volume covers a broad spectrum of theoretical and thematic approaches to postcolonial and metropolitan topographies and their depictions in writings from Australia and New Zealand South Africa South Asia and greater Asia as well as the UK addressing issues such as modernity and market economies but also caste class and social and linguistic aspects At the same time they reflect on the postcolonial metropolis and postcolonialism in the metropolis by concentrating on an urban imaginary which turns on notions of spatial subdivision and inequality political repression social discrimination economic exploitation and cultural alienation as the continuing postcolonial condition

The Passion of Michel Foucault James Miller, 2000 Based on extensive new research and a bold interpretation of the man and his texts The Passion of Michel Foucault is a startling look at one of this century's most influential philosophers. It chronicles every stage of Foucault's personal and professional odyssey from his early interest in dreams to his final preoccupation with sexuality and the nature of personal identity. Writing the Past, Writing the Future Richard S. Albright, 2009 This book links popular British fiction from the 1790s through the 1860s to anxieties about time. The cataclysm of the French Revolution, discoveries in geology, biology, and astronomy that greatly expanded the age and size of the universe, and technological developments such as the railway and the telegraph combined to transform the experience of time and dramatize its aporetic nature: time as inarticulable contradiction. U.S. Army Heraldic Crests Barry Jason Stein, 1993 A comprehensive guide to the authorized unit insignia from the American Revolution through the Persian Gulf War.
