Domestic and Regional Environmental Laws and Policies in Africa Jean-Claude N. Ashukem, Semie M. Sama, 2023-11-10

This book explores African domestic and regional responses and approaches to environmental protection and sustainability. Written by African experts, the collection consists of five parts covering the whole of Africa. It provides broad coverage of specific themes including environmental constitutionalism, climate change, gender and the environment, wildlife trade, environmental justice, and human displacement. The key aims are first to explore theoretical and empirical studies to interrogate and provide clarity on academic discourse on how and whether environmental human rights approaches and policy implications have effectively enhanced environmental protection and sustainability at African domestic levels. Second, to investigate and present innovative solutions on how African domestic legal regimes deal with environmental justice, natural resources governance, refugees, environmental rights, and climate-induced displaced persons. Finally, to propose innovative legal and institutionalised solutions to Africa's ecological realities by determining the legal and regulatory gaps on environmental human rights issues on the continent. The collection will be a valuable resource for researchers, academics, and policymakers in human rights law, environmental law, political science, ecology, and conservation, environmental management, disaster management, and development studies.

Colonial Justice and Decolonization in the High Court of Tanzania, 1920-1971 Ellen R. Feingold, 2018-02-09. This book is the first study of the development and decolonization of a British colonial high court in Africa. It traces the history of the High Court of Tanzania from its establishment in 1920 to the end of its institutional process of decolonization in 1971. This process involved disentangling the High Court from colonial state structures and imperial systems that were built on racial inequality while simultaneously increasing the independence of the judiciary and application of British judicial principles. Feingold weaves together the rich history of the Court with a discussion of its judges both as members of the British Colonial Legal Service and as individuals to explore the impacts and intersections of imperial policies, national politics, and individual initiative. Colonial Justice and Decolonization in the High Court of Tanzania is a powerful reminder of the crucial roles played by common law courts in the operation and legitimization of both colonial and post-colonial states.

The Teeth May Smile but the Heart Does Not Forget Andrew Rice, 2010-06-22. From a new star of American journalism, a riveting murder mystery that reveals the forces roiling today's Africa. From Rwanda to Sierra Leone, African countries recovering from tyranny and war are facing an impossible dilemma: to overlook past atrocities for the sake of peace or to seek catharsis through tribunals and truth commissions. Uganda chose the path of forgetting; after Idi Amin's reign was overthrown, the new government opted for amnesty for his henchmen rather than prolonged conflict. Ugandans tried to bury their history, but reminders of the truth were never far from view. A stray clue to the 1972 disappearance of Eliphaz Laki led his son to a shallow grave and then to three executioners among them Amin's chief of staff Laki's discovery resulted in a trial that gave voice to a nation's past as lawyers argued tribes clashed and Laki pressed for justice the trial offered Ugandans a promise of the reckoning they had been so long denied For four years Andrew Rice followed the trial crossing Uganda to investigate Amin's legacy and the limits of reconciliation At once a mystery a historical accounting and a portrait of modern Africa The Teeth May Smile But the Heart Does Not Forget is above all an exploration of how and whether the past can be laid to rest One of Kirkus Reviews Best Books of 2009 Annual Survey of African Law, 1970 East African Law Today, 1966 African Women Judges J. Jarpa Dawuni, 2025-05-21 This edited volume centers the voices of African women judges as agents of justice and equality The legal and personal narratives approach in the book privileges the contributors' lived experiences professional trajectories contributions and challenges The legal narrative storytelling approach also contributes to oral histories of African indigenous knowledge production and transfer By highlighting the substantive representation of women in African judicial leadership the chapters examine their impact on the development of jurisprudence judicial administration and contributions to the rule of law access to justice and women's rights in contemporary Africa This book significantly contributes to the diversity of knowledge and representation in the global discourse on gender and judging offering a novel contribution to the growing literature on African women judges

The Experience of Examining the PhD Michael Byram, Maria Stoiceva, 2022-12-30 This book provides an authoritative overview of the criteria and standards of the doctorate across a wide range of international settings with a particular focus on the practices of examining Presenting case studies and research from 13 universities in 13 countries across Africa Asia North and South America Australia and Europe the book is based on in-depth interviews and comparative analyses of the PhD examining experience It reveals the variations and similarities in different academic traditions and investigates the extent to which there are comparable expectations and standards across countries It suggests that criteria and standards both written and unwritten are broadly similar but shows that there is a need for much more explicitly formulated criteria and standards for an internationalised approach to doctoral assessment Following on from the 2019 book The Doctorate as Experience in Europe and Beyond this book will be of great interest to current and potential doctoral examiners researchers of higher education and university administrators Scholars in the Marketplace. The Dilemmas of Neo-Liberal Reform at Makerere University, 1989-2005 Mahmood Mamdani, 2007-09-15 Scholars in the Marketplace is a case study of market-based reforms at Uganda's Makerere University With the World Bank heralding neoliberal reform at Makerere as the model for the transformation of higher education in Africa it has implications for the whole continent At the global level the Makerere case exemplifies the fate of public universities in a market-oriented and capital-friendly era The Makerere reform began in the 1990s and was based on the premise that higher education is more of a private than a public good Instead of pitting the public against the private and the state against the market this book shifts the terms of the debate toward a third alternative than explores different relations between the two The book distinguishes between privatisation and commercialisation two processes that drove the Makerere reform It argues that whereas privatisation the entry of privately sponsored students is compatible with a public university where priorities are publicly set commercialisation financial and administrative autonomy for each faculty to design a market responsive curriculum inevitably leads to a market determination of priorities in a public university The book warns against commercialisation of public universities as the subversion of public institutions for private purposes
