LFA of the primary distribution in this study conducted using the N R method was adequate and best fit for a grid like network with medium voltage level The estimated losses are low and under the limit i e 2 04% which shows that the designed system performs adequately From the analysis it is found that the pre defined generation of 2 MW power is insufficient to electrify the whole affected area of the UKHPP Different alternative ways are recommended to manage the load and provide electricity to the people of the affected area
