Aflatoxins Unnevehr, Laurian, Grace, Delia, 2013-09-30 Aflatoxins are a naturally occurring carcinogenic byproduct of common fungi on grains and other crops particularly maize and groundnuts They pose a significant public health risk in many tropical developing countries and are also a barrier to the growth of domestic and international commercial markets for food and feed In recent years the aflatoxin problem has garnered greatly increased attention from both policy and donor communities around the globe What can be done to reduce the detrimental impacts of aflatoxins Because growth of the molds that produce aflatoxins is caused by multiple factors and because they must be controlled along the entire value chain from production to consumption only a robust multifaceted approach to controlling aflatoxins is likely to be effective The nineteen briefs in this set thus provide different perspectives on aflatoxin risks and solutions The analyses fall under four broad themes 1 what is known about the health risks from aflatoxins 2 how to overcome market constraints to improved aflatoxin control by building new market channels and incentives 3 what is the international policy context for taking action in developing countries and 4 what is the state of research on new aflatoxin control technologies including new methods for aflatoxin detection crop breeding biological control food storage and handling and postharvest mitigation These briefs collectively provide a much clearer picture of the state of current efforts at combatting aflatoxins They also identify what gaps loom particularly large including the need for country specific risk analysis and for testing integrated solutions for the entire supply chain in our global efforts to effectively reduce human exposure to aflatoxins and increase the economic returns to smallholders in agriculture

The Handbook of Global Agricultural Markets L. Nijs, 2014-06-23 This book is a one stop reference for practitioners and academics in finance business and economics providing a holistic reference to the international agriculture business It takes a multidisciplinary approach looking at the issues opportunities and investable themes in the global agricultural space combining research and practical tools

International Trade and Food Security Floor Brouwer, P K Joshi, 2016-07-08 This book explores structural changes in India s agrifood systems during the next ten to twenty years The dynamics in the agrifood sector is explored in the context of the overall economy taking into account agricultural and trade policies and their impacts on national and global markets The contributors draw on qualitative and quantitative approaches using both a national model to focus on urban rural relations and income distribution and an international model to focus on patterns of economic growth and international trade Dynamic Industrial Policy in Africa United Nations. Economic Commission for Africa,2014 For millions of Africans growth is yet to translate into jobs and better living conditions Africa s largely commodity driven growth has not been matched by the much needed structural change that can lead to economic transformation employment and reduced poverty Market failures necessitate industrial policy interventions Yet in the absence of the right processes and institutions good industrial policies will fail Indeed weak institutions and poor policy design have hindered industrial policy This report gives a framework for getting the policy process right to foster industrialization It uses 11 country case studies to assess the critical ingredients for spurring industrialization innovative institutions effective processes and flexible mechanisms and structural transformation

Forests, Business and Sustainability Rajat Panwar,Robert Kozak,Eric Hansen,2015-12-14 Forests are under tremendous pressure from human uses of all kinds and one of the most significant threats to their sustainability comes from commercial interests This book presents a comprehensive examination of the interactions between the forest products sector and the sustainability of forests It captures the most current sustainability concerns within the forestry sector and various sustainability oriented initiatives to address these Experts from around the world analyze interconnected topics including market mechanisms regulatory mechanisms voluntary actions and governance and outline their effectiveness potential and limitations By presenting a novel overview of the burgeoning field of business sustainability within the forestry sector this book paves a way forward in understanding what is working what is not working and what could potentially work to ensure sustainable business practices within the forestry sector Greening the Common Agricultural Policy Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee,2012 The European Commission proposes that 30% of direct payments made to farmers under the Common Agricultural Policy CAP would be conditional on compliance with three new greening measures While supporting the Commission s desire to improve the environment the EFRA Committee rejects the approach proposed Instead it calls for the EU to set high level objectives for the CAP that provide for flexibility to apply the right measures for local conditions through decentralising environmental protection under the CAP to Member States This report highlights the huge benefit that UK agri environment schemes have brought to biodiversity food production and the countryside The Committee also urged Defra to ensure that the UK s tenant farmers should not be excluded from these schemes The Committee concludes that Defra must ensure the balance of funding between mandatory and voluntary aspects of the CAP should not leave UK farmers at a competitive disadvantage relative to their counterparts in the rest of Europe MPs also warn that measures proposed by the Commission would be even more complex than the current system adding costly bureaucracy and generating more errors in the system Likewise the committee concludes that the Commission's crop diversification measure would in the UK have perverse consequences that are far less environmentally beneficial than crop rotation Of the three greening measures offered the Commission's proposal for Ecological Focus Areas EFA has the potential to deliver the greatest environmental benefit However the lack of definitions within the proposals make it difficult to assess what if any such benefits would actually be delivered

Employment and Inclusive Development

Rizwanul Islam,Iyanatul Islam,2015-02-11 Issues relating to employment and labour have once again come to the fore of global policy debates in the wake of the widespread unemployment that has accompanied the current financial crisis In the developing world there is a growing realization that productive employment promotion and social protection have to be at the core of inclusive growth and development This book supports the view that employment is a cross cutting issue shaped by macroeconomic and microeconomic policy interventions and provides a capacious framework to analyse the complexity of this global debate It covers a wide range of issues that have received insufficient attention in the discourse of development and labour economics These include the impact of macroeconomic policies on employment labour rights the development of human capabilities and employability youth employment the benefits and costs of labour market flexibility and the importance of social protection for all This important book aims at filling this gap by revisiting old debates and reconnecting them to the contemporary context combining analyses with relevant empirical evidence It will appeal to a diverse readership of academic institutions and think tanks international organizations bilateral donors working on development issues and policy makers in developing countries

The BRICS and the Future of Global Order Oliver Stuenkel,2020-02-03 The transformation of the BRIC acronym from an investment term into a household name of international politics and into a semi institutionalized political outfit called BRICS with a capital S is one of the defining developments in international politics in the past decades While the concept is now commonly used in the general public debate and international media there has not yet been a comprehensive and scholarly analysis of the history of the BRICS term The BRICS and the Future of Global Order Second Edition offers a definitive reference history of the BRICS as a term and as an institution a chronological narrative and analytical account of the BRICS concept from its inception in 2001 to the political grouping it is today In addition it analyzes what the rise of powers like Brazil Russia India China and South Africa means for the future of global order Will the BRICS countries seek to establish a parallel system with its own distinctive set of rules institutions and currencies of power rejecting key tenets of liberal internationalism or will they seek to embrace the rules and norms that define today's Western led order

Global Agriculture and the American Farmer Kimberly Ann Elliott,2017-06-27 The United States is one of the world's largest producers and exporters of a range of agricultural commodities and the largest provider of foreign assistance so US policies have big effects on global food security and other global public goods linked to agriculture On the positive side of the ledger President Obama created the Feed the Future aid initiative to promote agricultural development in poorer countries as a tool to achieve the global goals of ending hunger and extreme poverty which are mostly rural But that generosity is undercut by U S support for farmers that distorts global markets and ignores negative spillovers for the rest of the world In this book Elliott focuses on three policy areas that are particularly damaging for developing countries traditional agricultural subsidy and trade policies that support the incomes of American farmers at the expense of farmers elsewhere the biofuels mandate which in its current form increases market volatility while doing little if anything to mitigate climate change and weak regulation of antibiotic use in livestock which contributes to the global spread of drug resistant super bugs While noting that broad reforms are needed to fix these problems Elliott also identifies practical steps that U S policymakers could take in the relatively short run to improve farm policies for American taxpayers and consumers as well as for the poor and vulnerable in developing countries

Forest and land-use governance in a decentralized Indonesia: A legal and policy review Fitriani Ardiansyah, Andri Akbar Marthen, Nur Amalia, 2015-10-02 Which levels of government hold powers over forests and land use in Indonesia Which powers and responsibilities are centralized and which are decentralized What role can citizens play This report reviews the statutory distribution of powers and responsibilities across levels and sectors It outlines the legal mandates held by national regional and local governments with regard to land and forests including titling forest concessions oil and minerals investments oil palm plantations conservation land use planning and more The review considers national legislation as of 2014 and incorporates important reforms in early 2015 After a short introduction the second section describes the decentralization process including mechanisms for public participation The third section outlines sources of revenue available to different government levels from forest fees and payments for environmental services The fourth section details the specific distribution of powers and arenas of responsibility related to multiple land use sectors across levels and among offices within levels and the fifth and final section refers specifically to adat law Summary tables are included for each different policy arena to facilitate analysis across government levels and functions policy making administration control and monitoring auditing and sanction

Regional Overview of Food Security and Nutrition in Europe and Central Asia 2018 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-04-02 The Regional Overview of Food Security and Nutrition in Europe and Central Asia 2018 provides new evidence for monitoring trends in food security and nutrition within the framework of the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda The in depth analysis of progress made against Sustainable Development Goal 2 Target 2 1 to end hunger and ensure access to food by all and Target 2 2 to end all forms of malnutrition as well as the state of micronutrient deficiencies is complemented by a review of recent policy measures taken to address food security and nutrition in all its dimensions The Europe and Central Asia ECA region encompasses great economic social and environmental diversity and its countries are facing various food security and nutrition challenges While they have made significant progress in reducing the prevalence of undernourishment over the past two decades new evidence shows a stagnation of this trend particularly in Central Asia Malnutrition in one or more of its three main forms undernutrition

micronutrient deficiencies and overweight and obesity is present to varying degrees in all countries of the region. Often all three forms coexist creating what is called the triple burden of malnutrition. Overweight among children and obesity among adults continue to rise with now almost one fourth of the region's adults obese and constitute a significant concern for future health and well-being and related costs. While poverty levels in most ECA countries have been declining in recent years, poverty coupled with inequality has led to increased vulnerability of disadvantaged groups and populations in rural and remote areas of low and lower middle income countries. New analysis shows that adult women have a higher prevalence of severe food insecurity than men in some areas pointing to gender inequalities that are reflected in access to food. Addressing gender and other inequalities is key to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals and heeding the call to leave no one behind. The publication's focus this year is on migration, gender and youth and the linkages with rural development and food security in Europe and Central Asia. Migration is linked in multiple ways to gender, youth and agricultural and rural development both as a driver and possible source of development opportunities with labour migration and remittances playing significant roles in the region. Changing migration processes need to be fully understood to better address the challenges of migration and harness the potential benefits for sustainable development and revitalized rural areas. Governments, public and private institutions, communities and other concerned parties must strengthen collaboration and scale up efforts towards achieving the goals of a thriving, healthy and food secure region.

The Governance of Agriculture in Post-Brexit UK Irene Antonopoulos, Matt Bell, Aleksandra Čavoški, Ludivine Petetin, 2022-02-27. This book provides a multidisciplinary analysis of the impact of Brexit on British agriculture and associated areas, discussing the Common Agricultural Policy and the Agriculture Act 2020. The Brexit referendum provoked new debates and questions over the future of agriculture in Britain and the potential positive and negative impacts of Brexit on both farmers and consumers. These debates, as well as the ensuing proposals relevant to the Agriculture Act 2020, have exposed the multidimensional effects of Brexit when it comes to agriculture. With a focus on profitability, the rights of farmers, environmental protection, as well as animal welfare, this book brings together an interdisciplinary analysis of the future of British agriculture in post-Brexit Britain. More specifically, it addresses the criticisms over the Common Agricultural Policy, presents an analysis of the Agriculture Act 2020 and considers suggestions for future developments. Through this analysis, the book suggests a way towards the future with a positive outlook towards a competitive and sustainable agriculture that will satisfy the needs of farmers and consumers while ensuring environmental protection, animal welfare and rural development. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of food and agricultural policy and politics, agroecology and rural development, as well as policymakers involved in Britain's post-Brexit environmental policy.

The UK Government's "Vision for the Common Agricultural Policy" Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee, 2007-05-24. Incorporating HCP 1250 session 2005-06, not previously published.

The European Commission

Neill Nugent, Mark Rhinard, 2015-10-26 The European Commission is at the very heart of the European integration process and with the Council is one of the two central institutions of the European Union Its activist role under Jacques Delors led to a dramatic increase in its activity and influence and contributed to a crisis of confidence in its effectiveness and its lack of adequate financial controls which culminated in the resignation of the entire Commission under Jacques Santer in 1999 What progress has the Commission made in addressing these issues under Romano Prodi What are its prospects in face of the new challenges of Eastward enlargement How great is its influence and how does this vary according to issues and circumstances What are the implications of its hybrid character as a political and administrative body How much has the Commission changed over time and how much and how does it need to change now Written by a leading authority and author of the best selling introductory text on the EU this major new text provides the definitive introduction to and assessment of the Commission its evolution composition organisation character functioning and role Comprehensive up to date and based on extensive original research it will be essential reading for students of European integration politicians policy makers and functionaries and anyone with a serious interest in the European Union its current character and future prospects

Rebuilding resilient and sustainable agriculture in Somalia (Full report) Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-11-02 This report documents the pressures on Somalia's livestock and crop subsectors over the years but notes that there is a cause for optimism thanks to the country's resilience and resources These include a variety of agroecological zones and vast tracts of arable land and areas suitable for livestock production which in turn can support markets export trade and overall growth

Here We May Rest Silvia Giagnoni, 2017-04-02 Hailed as the most restrictive immigration bill in the nation the Beason Hammon Alabama Taxpayer Citizen Protection Act known as HB 56 went into effect in September 2011 Its intent was to create jobs for Alabamians by making the lives of undocumented immigrants in the state impossible so that they would self deport It failed Here We May Rest offers a comprehensive explanation of how and why HB 56 came about and reports on its effects on immigrant communities Author Silvia Giagnoni argues that the legislation was anti immigrant not merely anti illegal immigration as its proponents claimed Building a case against the legalistic framework through which the bill was promoted Giagnoni dissects the role the media and Fox News specifically played in criminalizing immigrants as well as mainstreaming immigrant haters which created the xenophobic climate that paved the way for the Trump Presidency The new immigrants of Alabama take center stage in the second part of the book reclaiming their role in the cultural social and economic development of the state Giagnoni concludes with an appeal against any form of social segregation because only direct contact massive prolonged equal and intimate as Howard Zinn argued will cure the stereotyping and prejudice that feed ignorance and foster fear

Eurozone Dystopia William Mitchell, 2015-05-29 Eurozone Dystopia traces the origin of the Eurozone and shows how the historical Franco German rivalry combined with the growing dominance of neo liberal economic thinking to create a monetary system that was deeply flawed and destined to fail It argu

The Price of Aid David C. Engerman, 2018-02-19 This study of US and Soviet aid efforts in India during the Cold War makes a major contribution towards a necessary discussion of the politics of aid Times Higher Education Debates over foreign aid are often strangely ahistorical Economists argue about how to make aid work while critics bemoan money wasted on corruption ignoring the fundamentally political character of aid The Price of Aid turns the standard debate on its head By exposing the geopolitical calculus underpinning development assistance it also exposes its costs India stood at the center of American and Soviet aid competition throughout the Cold War as both superpowers saw developmental aid as a way of pursuing their geopolitical goals by economic means Drawing on recently declassified files from seven countries David Engerman shows how Indian leaders used Cold War competition to win battles at home eroding the Indian state in the process As China spends freely in Africa the political stakes of foreign aid are rising once again A superb field changing book A true classic Sunil Amrith

Indigenous Water and Drought Management in a Changing World Miguel Sioui, 2022-05-19 Indigenous Water and Drought Management in a Changing World presents a series of global case studies that examine how different Indigenous groups are dealing with various water management challenges and finding creative and culturally specific ways of developing solutions to these challenges With contributions from Indigenous and non Indigenous academics scientists and water management experts this volume provides an overview of key water management challenges specific to Indigenous peoples proposes possible policy solutions both at the international and national levels and outlines culturally relevant tools for assessing vulnerability and building capacity In recent decades global climate change particularly drought has brought about additional water management challenges especially in drought prone regions where increasing average temperatures and diminishing precipitation are leading to water crises Because their livelihoods are often dependent on the land and water Indigenous groups native to those regions have direct insights into the localized impacts of global environmental change and are increasingly developing their own adaptation and mitigation strategies and solutions based on local Indigenous knowledge IK Many Indigenous groups around the globe are also faced with mounting pressure from extractive industries like mining and forestry which further threaten their water resources The various cases presented in Indigenous Water and Drought Management in a Changing World provide much needed insights into the particular issues faced by Indigenous peoples in preserving their water resources as well as actionable information that can inform future scientific research and policymaking aimed at developing more integrated region specific and culturally relevant solutions to these critical challenges Includes diverse case studies from around the world Provides cutting edge perspectives about Indigenous peoples water management issues and IK based solutions Presents maps for most case studies along with a summary box to conclude each chapter
