Policing the Planet Jordan T. Camp, Christina Heatherton, 2016-06-07 How policing became the major political issue of our time Combining firsthand accounts from activists with the research of scholars and reflections from artists Policing the Planet traces the global spread of the broken windows policing strategy first established in New York City under Police Commissioner William Bratton. It's a doctrine that has vastly broadened police power the world over to deadly effect. With contributions from BlackLivesMatter cofounder Patrisse Cullors-Ferguson, activist and Law Professor Justin Hansford, Director of New York-based Communities United for Police Reform Joo Hyun Kang, poet Martín Espada, and journalist Anjali Kamat, as well as articles from leading scholars Ruth Wilson Gilmore, Robin D. G. Kelley, Naomi Murakawa, Vijay Prashad, and more, Policing the Planet describes ongoing struggles from New York to Baltimore to Los Angeles, London, San Juan, San Salvador, and beyond.

Willful Defiance Mark R. Warren, 2022

The story of how Black and Brown parents, students, and members of low-income communities of color organized to dismantle the school-to-prison pipeline in their local schools and built a movement that spread across the country. In Willful Defiance, Mark R. Warren documents how Black and Brown parents, students, and low-income communities of color organized to dismantle the school-to-prison pipeline in their local schools and built an intersectional movement that spread across the country. Examining organizing processes in Mississippi, Los Angeles, Chicago, and other localities, he shows how relatively small groups of community members built the power to win policy changes to reduce suspensions and expulsions by combining deep local organizing with resources from the national movement. As a result, over the course of twenty years, the movement to combat the school-to-prison pipeline resulted in falling suspension rates across the country and began to make gains in reducing police presence in schools, especially in places where there have been sustained organizing and advocacy efforts. In documenting the struggle, organizers waged to build national alliances led by community groups and people most impacted by injustice, rather than Washington-based professional advocates. Warren offers a new model for movements that operate simultaneously at local, state, and national levels while primarily oriented to support and spread local organizing. In doing so, he argues for the need to rethink national social justice movements as interconnected local struggles whose victories are lifted and spread. In the end, the book highlights lessons from the school-to-prison pipeline movement for organizers, educators, policymakers, and a broader public seeking to transform deep-seated and systemic racism in public schools and the broader society.
