barely viable American Hometown Renewal is the first book to combine administrative budgetary and economic analysis to examine the economic and fiscal plight currently facing America's small towns. Featuring a blend of theory, applications and case studies, it provides a comprehensive single source textbook covering the key issues facing small town officials in today's uncertain economy. Written by a former public manager, university professor and consultant to numerous small towns in the Heartland, this book demonstrates the ways in which contemporary small towns throughout the nation are facing economic challenges brought about by the financial shocks that began in 2008. Each chapter explores a theme related to small town revival and provides a related tool or technique to enable small town officials to meet the challenges of the 21st Century. Encouraging local small town officials to look at the economic orbit of communities in a similar manner as a town's budget or a family's personal wealth, examining its specific competitive advantages in terms of relative assets to those of competing communities, this book provides the reader with step by step instructions on how to conduct an asset inventory and apply key asset tools to devise a strategy for overcoming the challenges and constraints imposed upon spatially fixed communities. American Hometown Renewal is an essential primer for students studying city management, economic community development and city planning and will be a trusted handbook for city managers, geographers, city planners, urban or rural sociologists, political scientists and regional microeconomists. We've Got You Covered Liran Einav, Amy Finkelstein, 2023-07-25 From a MacArthur Genius MIT economist and pre-eminent Stanford economist comes a lively and provocative proposal for American health insurance reform. Few of us need convincing that the American health insurance system needs reform. But many of the existing proposals focus on expanding one relatively successful piece of the system or building in piecemeal additions. These proposals miss the point. As the Stanford health economist Liran Einav and the MIT economist and MacArthur Genius Amy Finkelstein argue, our health care system was never deliberately designed but rather pieced together to deal with issues as they became politically relevant. The result is a sprawling yet arbitrary and inadequate mess. It has left 30 million Americans without formal insurance. Many of the rest live in constant danger of losing their coverage if they lose their job, give birth, get older, get healthier, get richer or move. It's time to tear it all down and rebuild sensibly and deliberately. Marshaling original research, striking insights from American history and comparative analysis of what works and what doesn't from systems around the world, Einav and Finkelstein argue for automatic basic and free universal coverage for everyone along with the option to buy additional supplemental coverage. Their wholly original argument and comprehensive blueprint for an American universal health insurance system will surprise and provoke. We've Got You Covered is an erudite yet lively and accessible prescription we cannot afford to ignore.
