Chenoweth,2019-06-24 Read professional fair reviews by practicing academic public and school librarians and subject area specialists that will enable you to make the best choices from among the latest reference resources This newest edition of American Reference Books Annual ARBA provides librarians with insightful critical reviews of print and electronic reference resources released or updated in 2017 2018 as well as some from 2019 that were received in time for review in the publication By using this invaluable guide to consider both the positive and negative aspects of each resource librarians can make informed decisions about which new reference resources are most appropriate for their collections and their patrons needs Collection development librarians who are working with limited budgets as is the case in practically every library today will be able to maximize the benefit from their monetary resources by selecting what they need most for their collection while bypassing materials that bring limited value to their specific environment Mortal Wounds Martin Smith,2017-08-30 A biological anthropologist uses the human skeleton to examine the history of violence from the Mesolithic era to the nineteenth century Human beings have a violent past Physical hostilities between people are at least as old as humanity and the roots of such behaviour go very deep Earlier studies have been based on a range of sources including written documents as well as archaeological evidence in the form of weapons armour and defences However each of these is fraught with problems and there is in fact only one form of evidence that can both directly testify to past violence and which has also been present throughout the whole human story the remains of past people themselves This book brings together a wealth of recently recognised evidence from preserved human skeletons to investigate a range of questions regarding the ways human beings have used violence to achieve their aims in a single volume presenting this continuous thread of unbroken evidence from the early Stone Age to the 19th century Who engaged in violence Who were the victims How have styles and objectives of conflict changed over time How old is war and why did it appear when it did All these and further questions are addressed in this cutting edge book the first of its kind to be aimed at the general reader and written for an audience that may not be familiar with what we can learn from the human skeleton about our shared past and the changing face of human conflict Praise for Mortal Wounds This well researched well written book is recommended for archaeologists military historians and all those interested in the development of human kind Minerva An excellent introduction to the bioarchaeology of interpersonal conflict This book will likely be of greatest interest to bioarchaeologists but the thorough explanations and descriptions of concepts and methods make the book accessible to a general non specialist audience Classical Journal This engaging well written illustrated book introduces readers to a relatively new field within anthropology called conflict archaeology The book is aimed at general readers and Smith avoids jargon whenever possible clearly defining specialized terms when necessary The book should also be worthwhile reading for academics with related interests but who lack expertise in skeletal analysis Summing Up Highly recommended All public and academic levels libraries Choice The Importance of Place: Geographical Indications as a Tool for Local and Regional Development William van Caenegem, Jen Cleary, 2017-03-27 This book explores the potential benefits and disadvantages of geographical indication GIs registration schemes analyzing the utility of GI registrations for the development and promotion of regional economies both in national and international markets The book draws on the van Caenegem Cleary Drahos Australian Provenance Report along with the valuable empirical data collected in connection with it The book situates the rural development question in an international context presenting several case studies from Italy France and Morocco New Zealand and Australia The book contains various chapters focused on comparing regulatory structures in various relevant jurisdictions and drawing on other countries experiences It contains significant contributions from industry actors with extensive experience in regional branding initiatives and GI related policy issues Progressive in structure the book starts from the big picture level before moving down to the local and concrete scale Geographical indications of Australian products are vital both in domestic and overseas markets by accurately representing the origin and quality of niche agricultural products Thus with a particular focus on Australia the book promotes the assessment of geographical indications as potential regional assets that will help producers develop local quality indicators that will serve as public goods for successive generations of producers
