

Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate:
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May,
And summer's lease hath all too short a date;
Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines,
And often is his gold complexion dimm'd;
And every fair from fair sometime declines,
By chance or nature's changing course untrimm'd;
But thy eternal summer shall not fade,
Nor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st;
Nor shall death brag thou wander'st in his shade,
When in eternal lines to time thou grow'st:
    So long as men can breathe or eyes can see,
    So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.

Laying The Foundation Sonnet 18:

Mind in Character David K. Weiser, 1987 This book is about poetry rather than theory Shakespeare s poetry I find remains more relevant and more rewarding than any theory however elaborate as to who if anyone should read a text and if so how they should do it In other words I do not intend another prolegomena for future studies of the reader in the text and or the text in the reader I simply have written what I think the sonnets are about what they say and how they say it I do not attempt to speak for the reader as I know little about him or her but only for myself What interests me especially is the behavior of Shakespeare s sonnet speaker the coherent psychological entity projected by the speaking voice in these poems I do not identify that speaker with the historical William Shakespeare knowing scarcely more about him than about the reader
