As Feb February approacheth, sales leaders far and wide are preparing for SKO. Raps will be rallied, emotions will be ignited, and sales strategies will be deployed.

The dilemma sales leaders face, though, is much more challenging than the age old question of "when should we break for happy hour?" One can sum it up in with the knee bucking McKinsey stat: 70% of new business transformations, like sales methodologies or how you go-to market fail.

(If that does make you internally yikes, then I commend your steely nerves.)

"How come?" might be your next question - and the answer is simple: after SKO strategies are deployed, sales leaders have no visibility into the adoption, or effectiveness of their initiative.

So, post SKO, how do you plan to ensure your biggest initiatives are achieved this year? If that question is answered with a new Salesforce field or more manager reports - there might be a better way.

Interested in learning what it is? Give me a ping back. If not, no worries.

-Sarah

P.S. Give me a shout if you'd like to read through the McKinsey study - happy to share my copy!

Sales Force Management Mark W. Johnston, Greg W. Marshall, Jessica L. Ogilvie, 2025-03-31 This 14th edition of Sales Force Management continues to build on the book's reputation as a contemporary classic fully updated for modern sales management teaching research and practice. By identifying recent trends and applications, Sales Force Management combines real world sales management best practices with cutting edge theory and empirical research in a single authoritative source. The authors have strengthened the focus on the use of technology in sales management including the use of AI in predictive sales analytics, updated the content to reflect the enduring impact of the Covid 19 pandemic and revised the case studies and features throughout. Pedagogical features include the following: All new Thought Bubbles posing international challenges regularly encountered by sales managers to develop students' cultural intelligence and ability to handle cross cultural interactions with ease; Engaging breakout questions designed to spark lively discussion; Leadership Challenge assignments at the end of every chapter to help students understand and apply the principles they have learned in the classroom; Minicases updated to reflect contemporary B2B industry settings that today's graduating sales students will find themselves in, such as technology sales roles; Leadership Innovation and Technology boxes that simulate real world challenges faced by salespeople and their managers; Ethical Moment boxes in each chapter put students on the firing line of making ethical choices in sales; Role Play exercises at the end of each chapter designed to enable students to learn by doing. This fully updated new edition is an invaluable resource for students of sales management at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels. Online supplementary resources include an Instructor's Manual and PowerPoint lecture slides.

Selling in a Crisis Jeb Blount, 2022-10-18 Find the motivation and confidence to stay on top when everything hits the fan. In volatile times it is hard to sell. It seems like every company is on a spending freeze, cutting back or pushing off making decisions. Buyers become scarce and the competition for the few that are still buying is fierce. People don't want to meet with you, objections are harsher, customers cancel orders and contracts on a whim and pressure you for price decreases. Yet you are still under the same pressure to make your sales number. If you don't, your income will take a hit. Don't even mention the 401k that you are afraid to even look at with the markets in free fall. In this situation it's natural to feel stressed out and feel demotivated. In Selling in a Crisis, the world's most sought after sales trainer Jeb Blount delivers an essential blueprint for staying motivated, keeping your pipeline full, increasing sales, retaining your customers and advancing your career in times of uncertainty and change. In his classic no nonsense style, Jeb gives you 55 easy to consume tips, techniques and tactics that are time tested and proven to help you stay on top when everything and everyone else is down. You'll also discover: The real secrets to selling more in a crisis; The difference between rainmakers and rain barrels and how to find opportunity in adversity; Why you must stop swimming naked and put your bathing suit on; Why you don't get into buckets with crabs; How to be a RIGHT NOW sales professional; 7 Steps of Effective Prospecting Sequences and how to be professionally persistent; How to adjust sales messaging to meet the moment; The sales secrets of frogs, squirrels and horses; Sutton's Law and why you must go where the money is; Why you need more than charm and a great personality to close sales in a crisis; The five questions you must answer in the affirmative for every stakeholder How to handle buying commitment objections in a crisis How to protect your turf from competitors and your profits from price decreases Five ways to protect and advancing your career How to be bold and always trust your cape And so much more Jon Kabat Zinn once said You can t stop the waves but you can learn to surf This is exactly what you ll learn to do in this indispensable guide for sales professionals who are navigating the rough seas of volatility With each chapter you will find the motivation inspiration and confidence catch to rise above the negativity catch your wave and take control of your life career mindset and income
