Enzymes and Cellular Regulation

(Illustrate the factors that regulate the activity of the enzyme catalase (catalase))

WUPT

Enzymes are protein-based biological molecules that catalyze chemical reactions. They are highly specific, meaning they only catalyze one type of reaction. Enzymes are affected by various factors, including temperature, pH, and substrate concentration. Enzymes are also affected by inhibitors, which are molecules that bind to the enzyme and prevent it from catalyzing a reaction. Enzymes are essential for life, and they play a role in many biological processes, including metabolism, DNA replication, and cell signaling.
