authority play in food industry responses to consumer concerns about what we eat and how it is made As Biltekoff documents industry efforts to correct public misperceptions through science based education have consistently misunderstood the public s concerns which she argues are an expression of politics This has entrenched food scientism in public discourse and seeded a form of antipolitics with broad consequences Real Food Real Facts offers lessons that extend well beyond food choice and will appeal to readers interested in how everyday people come to accept or reject scientific authority in matters of personal health and well being
