

MOVIE CRITIQUE

The movie To Sir with Love, directed by James Clavel in 1967, deals with vital social issues of the time.

Social class, ethnicity, and gender have always been considered as possible barriers to equality of opportunity in education. This issue is always present in the movie. The main character, Mark, encounters numerous difficulties with employment because of his skin color. Although it seems that being a Negro did not prevent him from getting all-round education and an academic degree, he is not accepted to work anywhere besides low-rate school for difficult children.

There is little evidence of educational inequality conditioned by gender. In Mark's class there are both boys and girls, and the latter seem to be treated as equals. The school provides similar educational environment for both sexes. However, low social status and neglectful attitude of the parents diminishes the children's chances to get good education. East End is considered as inferior to other districts, and the children from local schools have less opportunities than those from more prestigious educational institutions.

The relationship between teachers and students has considerable influence on the students' performance. Teacher's expectations have strong impact on the student's performance. The maturity with which Mark begins to treat the students encourages them to make progress and excites their interest. Trust and tolerance displayed by the teacher and his respect of the student's personalities serve as effective stimuli and improve their academic performance. Individualism and liberty that are often viewed as the main selected filmographies and ideas for projects essays and further research Thinking Like a Political Scientist Christopher Howard, 2022-12-22 A compelling case for transforming how research methods are taught to undergraduate students of political science London School of Economics Review of Books Each year tens of thousands of students who are interested in politics go through a rite of passage they take a course in research methods Many find the subject to be boring or confusing and with good reason Most of the standard books on research methods fail to highlight the most important concepts and questions Instead they brim with dry technical definitions and focus heavily on statistical analysis slighting other valuable methods This approach prevents students from mastering the skills they need to engage more directly and meaningfully with a wide variety of research With wit and practical wisdom Christopher Howard draws on more than a decade of experience teaching research methods to transform a typically dreary subject and teach budding political scientists the critical skills they need to read published research more effectively and produce better research of their own The first part of the book is devoted to asking three fundamental questions in political science What happened Why Who cares In the second section Howard demonstrates how to answer these questions by choosing an appropriate research design selecting cases and working with numbers and written documents as evidence Drawing on examples from American and comparative politics international relations and public policy Thinking Like a Political Scientist highlights the most common challenges that political scientists routinely face and each chapter concludes with exercises so that students can practice dealing with those challenges On Location Candace Spigelman, Laurie Grobman, 2005-02-01 Classroom based writing tutoring is a distinct form of writing support a hybrid instructional method that engages multiple voices and texts within the college classroom Tutors work on location in the thick of writing instruction and writing activity On Location is the first volume to discuss this emerging practice in a methodical way The essays in this collection integrate theory and practice to highlight the alliances and connections on location tutoring offers while suggesting strategies for resolving its conflicts Contributors examine classroom based tutoring programs located in composition courses as well as in writing intensive courses across the disciplines Writing in Film Studies, from Professional Practice to Practical Pedagogy Bryan Mead, 2024-01-09 A common refrain heard from instructors in offices across the world is that students have a hard time producing quality written discourse This is no different in the world of film studies where many undergraduate students struggle to cogently discuss the films they watch in class How can film instructors help students become better writers This book answers this question by first uncovering the disciplinary expectations we have for students and then offering strategies to explicitly teach those expectations in the classroom This book examines and identifies the disciplinary conventions of professional film studies discourse along with the expectations we have for student writing in undergraduate film courses What becomes clear from this analysis is that the pedagogical expectations we have for students are aligned with and shaped by professional writing in the discipline It helps to uncover the argument types instructors take for granted and helps those teaching undergraduate students not only to know what those expectations are but also how to use that knowledge to foster better student writing

Essays on Ayn Rand's "We the Living" Robert Mayhew, 2012-02-16 Ayn Rand remains a truly significant figure of modern philosophy Her unique vision of a world in which man relying on reason acts wholly for his own good is skillfully developed and illustrated in her most famous novels Atlas Shrugged and The Fountainhead But Rand's first novel We the Living a lesser known but no less important book offers an early form of the author's nascent philosophy the philosophy Rand later called Objectivism In the second edition Robert Mayhew once again brings together pre eminent scholars of Rand's writing The edition includes three new chapters as well as an epilogue by renowned Rand scholar Leonard Peikoff In part a history of We the Living from its earliest drafts to the Italian film later based upon it Mayhew's collection goes on to explore the enduring significance of Rand's first novel as a work both of philosophy and of literature For Ayn Rand scholars and fans alike this enhanced second edition is a compelling examination of a novel that set the tone for some of the most influential philosophical literature to follow

Positioning Art Cinema Geoff King, 2019-01-24 Art cinema occupies a space in the film landscape that is accorded a particular kind of value From films that claim the status of harsh realism to others which embody aspects of the tradition of modernism or the poetic art cinema encompasses a variety of work from across the globe But how is art cinema positioned in the film marketplace or by critics and in academic analysis Exactly what kinds of cultural value are attributed to films of this type and how can this be explained This book offers a unique analysis of how such processes work including the broader cultural basis of the appeal of art cinema to particular audiences Geoff King argues that there is no single definition of art cinema but a number of distinct and recurrent tendencies are identified At one end of the spectrum are films accorded the most heavyweight status offering the greatest challenges to viewers Others mix aspects of art cinema with more accessible dimensions such as uses of popular genre frameworks and exploitation elements involving explicit sex and violence Including case studies of key figures such as Michael Haneke Pedro Almod var and Jean Pierre and Luc Dardenne this is a crucial contribution to understanding both art cinema itself and the discourses through which its value is established
