Fly Away Peter David Malouf:

Fly Away Peter David Malouf, 1983 The simple lives of three people on the Queensland coast in 1914 are altered irretrievably by the horror of World War One Fly Away Peter by David Malouf Lee Forster, Fly Away Peter by David Malouf [videorecording], 1989 Fly Away Peter - David Malouf. NEAP Notes by Ian Good National Educational Advancement Programs, Nicholas Konstantatos, 2000 Fly Away Peter by David Malouf, Translated Into Chinese by Ouyang Yu Yu Ouyang, 1994 Notes on David Malouf's Fly Away Peter College of Careers (Cape Town, South Africa), 1987 Imagining Ithaca Kathleen Riley, 2021-04-01 Though home is a name a word it is a strong one said Charles Dickens stronger than magician ever spoke or spirit answered to in strongest conjuration The ancient Greek word nostos meaning homecoming or return has a commensurate power and mystique Irish philosopher poet John Moriarty described it as a teeming word a haunted word a word to conjure with The most celebrated and culturally enduring nostos is that of Homer's Odysseus who spent ten years returning home after the fall of Troy His journey back involved many obstacles temptations and fantastical adventures and even a katabasis a rare descent by the living into the realm of the dead All the while he was sustained and propelled by his memories of Ithaca His native home deep imagined in his soul as Pope's translation has it From Virgil's Aeneid to James Joyce's Ulysses from MGM's The Wizard of Oz to the Coen Brothers O Brother Where Art Thou and from Derek Walcott's Omeros to Margaret Atwood's Penelopiad the Odyssean paradigm of nostos and nostalgia has been continually summoned and reimagined by writers and filmmakers At the same time Ithaca has proved to be an evocative and versatile abstraction It is as much about possibility as it is about the past it is a vision of Arcadia or a haunting an object of longing a repository of memory a sleep and a forgetting In essence it is about seeking what is absent Imagining Ithaca explores the idea of nostos and its attendant pain algos in an excitingly eclectic range of sources from Rebecca West's The Return of the Soldier and Remarque's All Quiet on the Western Front through the exilic memoirs of Nabokov and the time travelling fantasies of Woody Allen to Seamus Heaney's Virgilian descent into the London Underground and Michael Portillo's Telemachan railway journey to Salamanca This kaleidoscopic exploration spans the end of the Great War when the world at large was experiencing the complexities of homecoming to the era of Brexit and COVID 19 which has put the notion of nostalgia firmly under the microscope National Identity in Contemporary Australian Opera Michael Halliwell, 2017-09-11 Opera has been performed in Australia for more than two hundred years yet none of the operas written before the Second World War have become part of the repertoire It is only in the late 1970s and early 1980s that there is evidence of the successful systematic production of indigenous opera The premiere of Voss by Richard Meale and David Malouf in 1986 was a watershed in the staging and reception of new opera and there has been a diverse series of new works staged in the last thirty years not only by the national company but also by thriving regional institutions The emergence of a thriving operatic tradition in contemporary Australia is inextricably enmeshed in Australian cultural consciousness and issues of national identity In this study of eighteen representative contemporary operas Michael Halliwell elucidates the ways in which the operas reflect and engage with the issues facing contemporary Australians Stylistically these eighteen operas vary greatly The musical idiom is diverse ranging from works in a modernist idiom such as The Ghost Wife Whitsunday Fly Away Peter Black River and Bride of Fortune to Voss Batavia Bliss Lindy Midnight Son The Riders The Summer of the Seventeenth Doll and The Children s Bach being works which straddle several musical styles A number of operas draw strongly on musical theatre including The Eighth Wonder Pecan Summer The Rabbits and Cloudstreet and Love in the Age of Therapy is couched in a predominantly jazz idiom While some of them are overtly political all at least tangentially deal with recent cultural politics in Australia and offer sharply differing perspectives

David Malouf Don Randall, 2013-07-19 Don Randall s comprehensive study situates Malouf within the field of contemporary international and postcolonial writing but without losing sight of the author s affiliation with Australian contexts The book presents an original reading of Malouf finding the unity of his work in the continuity of his ethical concerns for Malouf human lives find their value in transformations specifically in instances of self overcoming that encounters with difference or otherness provoke However the book is fully aware of and informed by the quite ample body of criticism on Malouf and thus provides readers with a broad based understanding of how Malouf s works have been received and assessed It is an effective companion volume for studies in postcolonial or Australian literature for any study project in which Malouf figures prominently

The Pain of Unbelonging, 2007-01-01 Beyond the obvious and enduring socio economic ravages it unleashed on indigenous cultures white settler colonization in Australasia also inflicted profound damage on the collective psyche of both of the communities that inhabited the contested space of the colonial world The acute sense of alienation that colonization initially provoked in the colonized and colonizing populations of Australia and New Zealand has recent studies indicate developed into an endemic existential pathology Evidence of the psychological fallout from the trauma of geographical deracination cultural disorientation and ontological destabilization can be found not only in the state of anomie and self destructive patterns of behaviour that now characterize the lives of indigenous Australian and Maori peoples but also in the perpetually faltering identity discourse and cultural rootlessness of the present descendants of the countries Anglo Celtic settlers It is with the literary expression of this persistent condition of alienation that the essays gathered in the present volume are concerned Covering a heterogeneous selection of contemporary Australasian literature what these critical studies convincingly demonstrate is that more than two hundred years after the process of colonisation was set in motion the experience that Germaine Greer has dubbed the pain of unbelonging continues unabated constituting a dominant thematic concern in the writing produced today by Australian and New Zealand authors

The Routledge Handbook of Systemic Functional Linguistics Tom Bartlett, Gerard O'Grady, 2017-01-12 The Routledge Handbook of Systemic Functional Linguistics brings together internationally renowned scholars of systemic functional linguistics SFL to provide a space for critical examination of the key tenets underpinning SFL theory. Uniquely, it includes a description of the three main strands within contemporary SFL scholarship: Halliday's Introduction to Functional Grammar, Martin's discourse semantics, and Fawcett's Cardiff Grammar. In five sections and thirty-eight interdisciplinary chapters, this is the first handbook to cover the whole architecture of SFL theory, comprising the ontology and epistemology of SFL, SFL as a clause grammar/lexicogrammar below the clause, and SFL's approach to constituency. SFL's vibrant theory of language above the clause, and SFL as a theory of praxis with real-world applications. With a wide range of language examples, a comprehensive editors' introduction, and a section on further reading, The Routledge Handbook of Systemic Functional Linguistics is an essential resource for all those studying and researching SFL or functional grammar.

Re-Imagining the First World War Anna Branach-Kallas, Nelly Strehlau, 2015-09-18

In the Preface to his ground-breaking The Great War and Modern Memory (1975), Paul Fussell claimed that the dynamics and iconography of the Great War have proved crucial political, rhetorical, and artistic determinants on subsequent life. Forty years after the publication of Fussell's study, the contributors to this volume reconsider whether the myth generated by World War I is still part of the fiber of people's lives in English-speaking countries. What is the place of the First World War in cultural memory today? How have the literary means for remembering the war changed since the war? Can anything new be learned from the effort to re-imagine the First World War after other bloody conflicts of the 20th century? A variety of answers to these questions are provided in Re-Imagining the First World War: New Perspectives in Anglophone Literature and Culture, which explores the Great War in British, Irish, Canadian, Australian, and post-colonial contexts. The contributors to this collection write about the war from a literary perspective, reinterpreting poetry, fiction, letters, and essays created during or shortly after the war, exploring contemporary discourses of commemoration, and presenting in-depth studies of complex conceptual issues such as gender and citizenship. Re-Imagining the First World War also includes historical, philosophical, and sociological investigations of the first industrialised conflict of the 20th century, which focus on responses to the Great War in political discourse, life writing, music, and film from the experience of missionaries isolated during the war in the Arctic and Asia, through colonial encounters, exploring the role of Irish, Chinese, and Canadian First Nations soldiers during the war, to the representation of war in the world-famous series Downton Abbey and the 2013 album released by contemporary Scottish rock singer Fish. The variety of themes covered by the essays here not only confirms the significance of the First World War in memory today but also illustrates the necessity of developing new approaches to the first global conflict and of commemorating new victims and agents of war. If modes of remembrance have changed with the postmodern ethical shift in historiography and cultural studies, which encourages the exploration of other subjectivities in war, so far concealed affinities and reverberations are still being discovered on the macro and micro historical levels: the Western and other fronts, the battlefield and the home front. Although it has been a hundred years since the outbreak of hostilities, there is a need for increased sensitivity to the tension between commemoration and contestation, and to re-member, re-conceptualise, and re-imagine the Great War Take Note: Interviews with Australian Composers Madeline Roycroft, 2021-12-01 What is the creative process Is there an Australian voice Does tonality have a place in music of this century These and many other questions relating to composition its philosophy and individual works are answered by nineteen Australian composers in a fascinating collection of interviews dating from 1996 to 2021 Composers in the spotlight are Larry Sitsky Elena Kats Chernin Chris Dench Julian Yu Brenton Broadstock Richard Mills Nigel Westlake Neil Kelly Carl Vine Elliott Gyger Joseph Twist Felicity Wilcox Gordon Kerry Liza Lim Linda Kouvaras Helen Gifford Paul Stanhope Stuart Greenbaum and Melody E tv s

Fly Away Peter, David Malouf Ian Good, 2000 Missions of Interdependence , 2021-11-01 At the beginning of the twenty first century it is necessary to combine into a productive programme the striving for individual emancipation and the social practice of humanism in order to help the world survive both the ancient pitfalls of particularist terrorism and the levelling tendencies of cultural indifference engendered by the renewed imperialist arrogance of hegemonial global capital In this book thirty five scholars address and negotiate in a spirit of learning and understanding an exemplary variety of intercultural splits and fissures that have opened up in the English speaking world Their methodology can be seen to constitute a seminal field of intellectual signposts They point out ways and means of responsibly assessing colonial predicaments and postcolonial developments in six regions shaped in the past by the British Empire and still associated today through their allegiance to the idea of a Commonwealth of Nations They show how a new ethic of literary self assertion interpretative mediation and critical responsiveness can remove the deeply ingrained prejudices silences and taboos established by discrimination against race class and gender
