

How to Write a Case Study

A case study is an in-depth analysis of a real-life situation or incident, as a way to illustrate content and theory to a real or simulated life situation or both. Case studies allow the learner to acquire cognitive reasoning, critical thinking, and decision-making skills.

HERE are some suggestions for how to write a case study. Remember, this is just a guide! Please be aware that different supervisors/tutors often have slightly different approaches and as such, their requirements may vary. Ensure you check the guidelines provided by your faculty/department and follow these to the letter.

Selecting the Topic

The author should select a topic that is focused, reality-based, relevant, and reflects evidence of best practices in nursing. The topic can deal with a care scenario from a past nursing experience or one that highlights and emphasizes the scope of current nursing practice.

Planning: Write Objectives

In the planning stage, it might be helpful to write at least three objectives or outcomes that reflect what can be learnt from the case study.

Example (N.B. in these examples, the patient diagnosis is schizoaffective disorder)

At the conclusion of the case study, it should be possible to:

1. Identify the characteristic behaviours presented in schizoaffective disorder.
2. Identify the components for diagnosing schizoaffective disorder.
3. Identify the common pharmacological approaches to the treatment of schizoaffective disorder including side effects and nursing considerations.

Developing an Introduction

An introduction is one or two opening paragraphs that set the stage for the case study scenario. Within the introduction, the patient, symptoms, and related circumstances of the situation may be described and may also present the history of the patient leading up to the events to be addressed in the scenario.

Example

J.A., a 35-year-old sanitation worker, was brought to the emergency department by her sister after being found in her home repeating "my neighbours are trying to kill me". J.A. stated that she often hears voices and sees people who tell her to kill herself.

In the emergency department J.A. was assessed and comforted. Her personal hygiene had been deteriorating and her teeth were discoloured and falling out. Her sister helped with the exam and stated that J.A. "had not shown up for work and would not answer

Participatory Case Study Work Sion

Williams, John Keady, 2021-01-03 Participatory Case Study Work shows academic co-researchers how to adapt and implement their methods so that data collection and analysis is authentically participatory. At the heart of this text is advocating a participatory approach to case study work, with co-construction as a catalyst for shared understanding and action in advancing ageing studies. Whilst case study research has a relatively long tradition in the canon of research methodologies, little attention has so far been paid to the importance and value of participatory case study work. This is surprising, as its egalitarian and democratic value base naturally lends itself to the co-production and co-creation of personal and collective theory drawn directly from lived experience. The book brings together over 15 years' worth of participatory case study work in ageing studies in which the editors have been actively involved as either front line researchers or as supervisors to PhD and MPhil studies adopting the methodology and from where each of the contributors is selected Real life case examples are shared in the main chapters of the book and they provide direction as to how learning can be applied to other settings The chapters also contain key references and recommended reading This volume will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as postdoctoral researchers interested in fields such as research methods qualitative methods ageing studies and mental health studies
