Greenhouse Effect and Global Warming

The greenhouse effect is a natural process that warms the Earth's surface. When the Sun's rays hit the Earth, some of the energy is reflected back to space, and some is absorbed by the Earth's surface. The energy absorbed by the Earth's surface is then re-emitted back into the atmosphere as heat. This heat is absorbed by greenhouse gases in the atmosphere, which then re-emits the heat back to the Earth's surface, warming it. This process is called the greenhouse effect.

Global warming is the long-term increase in the average temperature of the Earth's atmosphere and oceans. This is caused by the increase in greenhouse gases in the atmosphere, which is primarily due to human activities such as burning fossil fuels and deforestation.
