

1. The engine

The engine is the heart of the vehicle. It converts the chemical energy of the fuel into mechanical energy, which is used to drive the vehicle.

The engine is made up of several parts, including the cylinder block, crankshaft, pistons, and valves.

The cylinder block is the part of the engine that houses the cylinders. The crankshaft is the part that converts the up-and-down motion of the pistons into a rotating motion.

The pistons are the parts that move up and down in the cylinders. The valves are the parts that let fresh air and fuel into the cylinders and let the exhaust gases out.

The engine is controlled by a system of valves and a timing mechanism. The timing mechanism makes sure that the valves open and close at the right time.

The engine is also controlled by a system of sensors and a computer. The sensors tell the computer what the engine is doing, and the computer makes adjustments to keep the engine running smoothly.

2. The transmission

The transmission is the part of the vehicle that allows the driver to change gears. It converts the rotating motion of the engine into a different speed and torque.

The transmission is made up of several parts, including the input shaft, output shaft, and gears.

The input shaft is the part that connects the engine to the transmission. The output shaft is the part that connects the transmission to the drive shaft.

The gears are the parts that allow the driver to change speeds. The driver selects a gear by moving the gear selector lever.

The transmission is controlled by a system of valves and a timing mechanism. The timing mechanism makes sure that the gears mesh properly.

The transmission is also controlled by a system of sensors and a computer. The sensors tell the computer what the transmission is doing, and the computer makes adjustments to keep the transmission running smoothly.

3. The drive shaft

The drive shaft is the part of the vehicle that transmits power from the transmission to the rear axle. It is made up of a series of tubes and joints.
