Infrastructural Lives Urban Infrastructure In Context:

Infrastructural Lives Stephen Graham, Colin McFarlane, 2014-10-10 Infrastructural Lives is the first book to describe the everyday experience and politics of urban infrastructures. It focuses on a range of infrastructures in both the global South and North. The book examines how day to day experience and perception of infrastructure provides a new and powerful lens to view urban sustainability politics, economics, cultures, and ecologies. An interdisciplinary group of leading and emerging urban researchers examine critical questions about urban infrastructure in different global contexts. The chapters address water, sanitation, and waste politics in Mumbai, Kampala, and Tyneside; analyse the use of infrastructure in the dispossession of Palestinian communities; explore the pacification of Rio's favelas in the run up to the 2014 World Cup; describe how people's bodies and lives effectively operate as infrastructure in many major cities; and also explores tentative experiments with low carbon infrastructures. These diverse cases and perspectives are connected by a shared sense of infrastructure not just as a thing, a system, or an output, but as a complex social and technological process that enables or disables particular kinds of action in the city. Infrastructural Lives is crucial reading for academics, researchers, students, and practitioners in urban studies globally.

Urban Infrastructure Remo Dalla Longa, 2023-03-01 The book deals with the concept of urban infrastructure and the strong evolution of globalization in particular the driving force taken by global cities. Urban infrastructure is a constituent part of the global cities both have a synergistic evolution. The main reference is to western global cities in the intertwining of financialization, settling, and brownfield, which is a little different from the urbanization of other global cities of other non-developed countries or emerging countries. There is therefore a significant link between globalization and urban infrastructure. The occurrence of slowbalization can have consequences on urban areas, infrastructures, and more generally on the different dichotomy between global city and nation. With the pandemic infectious and the post COVID there is already a different configuration between the global city and the rest of the national territory. A driving element of the urban infrastructure and the global city has been the financialization and identification of assets within global cities. Urban infrastructure as an asset has grown considerably in the last two decades in the wake of what has already been highlighted previously for real estate. There are contiguous issues that affect the concept of urban infrastructures and they are the enormous growth of finance and the landings of this in the great cities of the world with investments that first involved Real Estate and then urban infrastructures. There has also been a technological revolution that has merged the ubiquitous technological infrastructure with other more traditional components of the infrastructure, even apparently recent themes such as smart cities come from this evolutionary trend and merge with urban infrastructures. The theme of smart cities if properly interpreted gives strength to the concept of urban infrastructure.

Infrastructures and Social Complexity Penelope Harvey, Casper Bruun Jensen, Atsuro Morita, 2016-10-04 Contemporary forms of infrastructural development herald alternative futures through their incorporation of digital technologies, mobile capital, international politics and the promises and fears of enhanced connectivity In tandem with increasing concerns about climate change and the anthropocene there is further an urgency around contemporary infrastructural provision a concern about its fragility and an awareness that these connective relational systems significantly shape both local and planetary futures in ways that we need to understand more clearly Offering a rich set of empirically detailed and conceptually sophisticated studies of infrastructural systems and experiments present and past contributors to this volume address both the transformative potential of infrastructural systems and their stasis Covering infrastructural figures their ontologies epistemologies classifications and politics and spanning development urban energy environmental and information infrastructures the chapters explore both the promises and failures of infrastructure Tracing the experimental histories of a wide range of infrastructures and documenting their variable outcomes the volume offers a unique set of analytical perspectives on contemporary infrastructural complications These studies bring a systematic empirical and analytical attention to human worlds as they intersect with more than human worlds whether technological or biological

Handbook of Infrastructures and Cities Olivier Coutard, Daniel Florentin, 2024-04-12 Contributing towards a thriving research area this comprehensive Handbook presents a broad discussion of infrastructure as social phenomena It compiles diverse perspectives to delineate the current infrastructural turn and assess policy and research challenges relating to contemporary forms of infrastructural development

Volume 1: Community and Society Brian Doucet, Rianne van Melik, Pierre Filion, 2021-07-22 Contributions to this volume engage directly with different urban communities around the world They give voice to those who experience poverty discrimination and marginalisation in order to put them in the front and centre of planning policy and political debates that make and shape cities

Thinking Infrastructures Martin Kornberger, Geoffrey C. Bowker, Julia Elyachar, Andrea Mennicken, Peter Miller, Joanne Randa Nucho, Neil Pollock, 2019-08-08 Thinking Infrastructures brings together interdisciplinary research on informational infrastructures to show how thinking thought and cognition as in ideas rationalities and the practice activity of thinking are inseparable from infrastructures

Problem Spaces Celia Lury, 2021-01-20 In this innovative book Celia Lury argues that the time has come for us to explore the world not only with new methods but with a new approach to methodology itself Fundamental changes are taking place in how we produce knowledge how we communicate it and indeed what we consider to be knowledge These changes demand innovative and creative responses to research questions Lury's rethinking of the nature of social inquiry starts by reconceptualizing the problem space Problems are not static or a given rather they are created and continually recomposed as part of the methodological process itself Following the line of thought that methods are practices that articulate as much as capture a social problem Lury further develops the notion of compositional methodology to think through its implications With remarkable fluency the book draws into conversation a range of hot button issues both longstanding and novel from observation reflexivity recursive measurement and feminist methodologies to participation context datafication and platformization Always with an eye to the methodological potential of new trends the book provides a strong challenge to much received wisdom and argues that a combination of techniques can contribute to better understanding of the problem spaces we all inhabit The Promise of Infrastructure Nikhil Anand,Akhil Gupta,Hannah Appel,2018-07-16 From U S Mexico border walls to Flint s poisoned pipes there is a new urgency to the politics of infrastructure Roads electricity lines water pipes and oil installations promise to distribute the resources necessary for everyday life Yet an attention to their ongoing processes also reveals how infrastructures are made with fragile and often violent relations among people materials and institutions While infrastructures promise modernity and development their breakdowns and absences reveal the underbelly of progress liberal equality and economic growth This tension between aspiration and failure makes infrastructure a productive location for social theory Contributing to the everyday lives of infrastructure across four continents some of the leading anthropologists of infrastructure demonstrate in The Promise of Infrastructure how these more than human assemblages made over more than human lifetimes offer new opportunities to theorize time politics and promise in the contemporary moment A School for Advanced Research Advanced Seminar Contributors Nikhil Anand Hannah Appel Geoffrey C Bowker Dominic Boyer Akhil Gupta Penny Harvey Brian Larkin Christina Schwenkel Antina von Schnitzler

Infrastructuring Urban Futures Alan Wiig, Kevin Ward, Theresa Enright, Mike Hodson, Hamil Pearsall, Jonathan Silver, 2023-05-25 EPDF and EPUB available Open Access under CC BY NC ND licence Focusing on material and social forms of infrastructure this edited collection draws on rich empirical details from cities across the global North and South The book asks the reader to think through the different ways in which infrastructure comes to be present in cities and its co constitutive relationships with urban inhabitants and wider processes of urbanization Considering the climate emergency economic transformation public health crises and racialized inequality the book argues that paying attention to infrastructures past present and future allows us to understand and respond to the current urban condition Rethinking Urbanism Myers, Garth, 2020-06-03 This book provides new insights into popular understandings of urbanism by using a wide range of case studies from lesser studied cities across the Global South and Global North to present evidence for the need to reconstruct our understanding of who and what makes urban environments Myers explores the global hierarchy of cities the criteria for positioning within these hierarchies and the successes of various policymaking approaches designed specifically to boost a city s ranking Engaging heavily with postcolonial studies and Global South thinking he shows how cities construct one another s spaces and calls for a new understanding of planetary urbanism that moves beyond Western centric perspectives South African urban imaginaries: cases from Johannesburg Richard Ballard, Sandiswa Mapukata, 2022-06-01 How do government officials elected politicians powerful economic actors and ordinary people think and talk about the urban geography of South Africa How do they describe and represent change that is happening in cities towns and villages Do they consider these changes to be good or bad How do they think such places should change What do they do to try to bring about the changes they desire Competing answers to these questions have been at the centre of South Africa's urban development Through the 19th and 20th centuries white minority governments straddled quite contradictory imaginaries about who could build lives for themselves in urban areas and on what terms Ordinary people held their own urban imaginaries that were quite different to those of white minority governments and were core to the fight for democracy In the democratic era a range of official and popular imaginaries offer diverse visions on how South Africans should be transformed In an earlier collection produced under the GCRO Spatial Imaginaries project we explored the sometimes contradictory nature of post apartheid urban visions with for example with some promoting the creation of new urban settlements on greenfield sites and others attempting to densify and diversify long urbanised spaces Research Report 13 South African urban imaginaries Cases from Johannesburg is a second edited collection under the Spatial Imaginaries project and it uses a series of cases from Johannesburg that illustrate the interactions between urban imaginaries and the material city These cases include the depiction of central business districts in film as spaces of aspiration the way in which the imaginaries of developers in Hillbrow were shaped by the lives of those living there the imaginaries of Alexandra Renewal Project practitioners the way in which residents of Brixton understand diversity and the construction of two new bridges across the M1 to better connect Sandton and Alexandra City of Men Romit Chowdhury,2023-08-11 How do men experience gender in the city Through descriptions of autorickshaw and taxi operators and their interactions with traffic police and commuters in Kolkata India this book highlights the gendered logics of cooperation and everyday morality through which masculinities take up space in cities

Everyday Sectarianism in Urban Lebanon Joanne Randa Nucho,2016-12-06 What causes violent conflicts around the Middle East All too often the answer is sectarianism popularly viewed as a timeless and intractable force that leads religious groups to conflict In Everyday Sectarianism in Urban Lebanon Joanne Nucho shows how wrong this perspective can be Through in depth research with local governments NGOs and political parties in Beirut she demonstrates how sectarianism is actually recalibrated on a daily basis through the provision of essential services and infrastructures such as electricity medical care credit and the planning of bridges and roads Taking readers to a working class predominantly Armenian suburb in northeast Beirut called Bourj Hammoud Nucho conducts extensive interviews and observations in medical clinics social service centers shops banking coops and municipal offices She explores how group and individual access to services depends on making claims to membership in the dominant sectarian community and she examines how sectarianism is not just tied to ethnoreligious identity but also class gender and geography Life in Bourj Hammoud makes visible a broader pattern in which the relationships that develop while procuring basic needs become a way for people to see themselves as part of the greater public Illustrating how sectarianism in Lebanon is not simply about religious identity as is commonly thought Everyday Sectarianism in Urban Lebanon offers a new look at how everyday social exchanges define and redefine communities and conflicts The Routledge Handbook of Religion and Cities Katie Day,Elise M. Edwards,2020-12-30 Like an ecosystem cities
