Gender and Judicial Education Ulrike Schultz, T. Brett Dawson, Gisela Shaw, 2018-04-19 Judicial Education has greatly expanded in common law countries in the past 25 years. More recently it has become a core component in judicial reform programs in developing countries with gender attentiveness as an element required by donor agencies. In civil law jurisdictions judges schools have long played a role in the formation of the career judiciary with a focus on entry to the judicial profession. In some countries judges get an intensive in service education at judicial academies. Gender questions however tend to be neglected in the curricula. These judicial education activities have generated a significant body of material and experience which it is timely to review and disseminate. Questions such as the following require answers: What is the current state of affairs? How is judicial education implemented in developed and developing countries all around the world? Who are the educators? Who is being educated? How is judicial education on gender regarded by judges? How effective are these programs? The chapters in this book deal with these questions. They provide a multiplicity of perspectives. Six countries are represented of these four are civil law countries: Germany, Argentina, Japan, Bosnia and Herzegovina and two are common law countries: Canada, Uganda. Closing the Gap in Education and Technology David M. De Ferranti, 2003. The fundamental elements to unlocking the potential of technology to speed up economic growth in Latin America and the Caribbean. LAC are investing in education opening up new technologies through foreign trade and investment and encouraging private sector research and development. Closing the Gap in Education and Technology advises Latin American and Caribbean governments to address the region's deficits in skills and technology and thereby boost productivity ultimately improving growth prospects. To close this productivity gap in the region the report calls for a range of policy approaches and strategies depending on a country's level of development. It identifies three progressive stages in a country's technological evolution: adoption, adaptation and creation and observes that policies should be designed to address the particular challenges that accompany each stage In conclusion Closing the Gap in Education and Technology argues that many countries in the Latin American and Caribbean region have been improving education and social risk management systems so that they are now ready to benefit from the rewards associated with creating stronger trade and technology ties with countries that are more technologically advanced
