Haney, 1979 The Pearson General Knowledge Manual 2011 Thorpe Edgar, 2011-09 Spatial Disorientation in Aviation Fred H. Previc, William R. Ercoline, 2004 The first book to cover the entire spectrum of spatial disorientation in flight. This book examines the long history of spatial disorientation in flight, describes the movements of aircraft in mathematical detail, and explains how these movements can conspire to fool human sensory systems. It also examines the visual mechanisms that contribute to perceptions of self motion, describes the contribution of psychological factors to spatial disorientation, and defines the types of visual and nonvisual illusions pilots experience in flight.

The Pearson General Knowledge Manual 2012 Edgar Thorpe, 2012 Airborne Reconnaissance, 1979 Head-Up Displays: Designing the Way Ahead Richard L. Newman, 2017-03-02 This is a thorough description of this increasingly important technology, starting from the development of head-up displays (HUDs), particularly specifications and standards, and operational problems associated with HUD use. HUD involvement in spatial disorientation and its use in recognizing and recovering from unusual attitudes is discussed. The book summarizes the design criteria, including hardware, software, interface, and display criteria. It goes on to outline flight tasks to be used for evaluating HUDs and discusses the impact of HUDs on flight training. Recent work indicates that a HUD may allow a significant reduction in the time required to train a pilot on a particular aircraft, even considering non-HUD related tasks. The author concludes with a review of unresolved HUD issues and recommendations for further research, and provides an impressive bibliography, glossary, and index. Within the military aviation sector, the book will be of use to industry, research agencies, test pilot schools, and air force training establishments. In the civil area, regulatory authorities, airlines, and industry will also have an increasing interest.
