Arguing with Numbers James Wynn,G. Mitchell Reyes,2021-04-15 As discrete fields of inquiry rhetoric and mathematics have long been considered antithetical to each other That is if mathematics explains or describes the phenomena it studies with certainty persuasion is not needed This volume calls into question the view that mathematics is free of rhetoric Through nine studies of the intersections between these two disciplines Arguing with Numbers shows that mathematics is in fact deeply rhetorical Using rhetoric as a lens to analyze mathematically based arguments in public policy political and economic theory and even literature the essays in this volume reveal how mathematics influences the values and beliefs with which we assess the world and make decisions and how our worldviews influence the kinds of mathematical instruments we construct and accept In addition contributors examine how concepts of rhetoric such as analogy and visuality have been employed in mathematical and scientific reasoning including in the theorems of mathematical physicists and the geometrical diagramming of natural scientists Challenging academic orthodoxy these scholars reject a math equals truth reduction in favor of a more constructivist theory of mathematics as dynamic evolving and powerfully persuasive By bringing these disparate lines of inquiry into conversation with one another Arguing with Numbers provides inspiration to students established scholars and anyone inside or outside rhetorical studies who might be interested in exploring the intersections between the two disciplines In addition to the editors the contributors to this volume are Catherine Chaput Crystal Broch Colombini Nathan Crick Michael Dreher Jeanne Fahnestock Andrew C Jones Joseph Little and Edward Schiappa

Improving Teacher Knowledge in K-12 Schooling Xiaoxia A. Newton,2018-03-15 This volume examines how several key components of the mathematics education system in the United States fail to provide teachers with adequate and effective tools to teach mathematics in K 12 classrooms These components consist of teachers own learning experiences as students in K 12 classrooms their undergraduate or graduate trainings in mathematics and their in service professional development trainings Newton argues that unless we improve these system components as a whole and recognize the importance of teaching future mathematics teachers explicitly and rigorously the topics they are expected to teach teachers will continue to recycle a body of incoherent and incomprehensible mathematical knowledge to their students because these are the only types of mathematical knowledge they have at their disposal both in terms of what they themselves have learned as K 12 students and in terms of the mathematical resources available to them including the textbooks they rely on to teach as mathematics teachers     Sustaining Human Progress Khalid Malik,2014 Most people in most countries have been steadily better in human development Advances in technology and incomes hold ever greater for longer healthier more secure lives supplements Omega 3s are today a multi billion dollar business and sales are still growing apace even as recent medical studies caution that the promise of omega 3s may not be what it first appeared. But a closer look at the omega 3 sensation reveals something much deeper and more troubling. The miracle pill is only the latest product of the reduction industry, a vast global endeavor that over the last century has boiled down trillions of pounds of marine life into animal feed, fertilizer, margarine, and dietary supplements. The creatures that are the victims of that industry seem insignificant to the untrained eye but turn out to be essential to the survival of whales, penguins, and fish of all kinds, including many that we love to eat. Behind these tiny molecules is a big story of the push and pull of science and business, of the fate of our oceans in a human dominated age, of the explosion of land food at the expense of healthier and more sustainable seafood, of the human quest for health and long life at all costs. James Beard Award winning author Paul Greenberg probes the rich and surprising history of omega 3s from the dawn of complex life when these compounds were first formed to human prehistory when the discovery of seafood may have produced major cognitive leaps for our species, and on to the modern era when omega 3s may point the way to a bold new direction for our food system. With wit and boundless curiosity, Greenberg brings us along on his travels from Peru to Antarctica, from the Canary Islands to the Amalfi Coast, to reveal firsthand the practice and repercussions of our unbalanced way of eating. Rigorously reported and winningly told, The Omega Principle is a powerful argument for a more deliberate and forward thinking relationship to the food we eat and the oceans that sustain us. ,1986 Handbook of Education Policy Research Janelle Scott,2025-07-17 The second edition of the Handbook of Education Policy Research, the largest volume published in AERA's history, addresses a variety of policy and contextual issues in early childhood, K-12, and postsecondary education that have received extensive empirical attention during the past 15 years. With the pandemic and social turmoil as a backdrop, the editors build on the breadth and depth of the first edition while expanding the scope of the project to include subjects, methods, theories, and analyses that have contributed powerfully to the study of education policy and politics in the 2010s and 2020s. The field has become more comprehensive and inclusive, and the authors represent a diversity of racial, ethnic, and gender identities and intellectual and disciplinary orientations. Most chapters come from multiple authors, reflecting the multi-sourced development of research in education policy since the first volume was published. This compilation consists of 70 chapters and nine commentaries that map past, present, and future directions of the field and richly attend to critical issues of interest to students, researchers, policy makers, and practitioners.
