

9. LOGICAL VENN DIAGRAMS

This section deals with questions which aim at analysing a candidate's ability to relate a certain given group of items and illustrate it diagrammatically. Here are a few different types of Venn diagrams with their implications made clear.

Suppose you are given a group of three items. Then,

1. if the items evidently belong to three different groups, alongside,

Ex. Doctors, Engineers, Lawyers

These three items bear no relationship to each other. So they are represented by 3 disjoint figures as shown in Fig. 1.

Fig. 1

2. if one item belongs to the class of the second and the second belongs to the class of third, then the representation is in the form of three concentric circles, as shown in Fig. 2.

Ex. Seconds, Minutes, Hours

Clearly, seconds are a part of minutes and minutes are a part of hours. So, the Venn diagram would be as shown in the adjoining figure with circle A representing Seconds, circle B representing Minutes and circle C representing Hours.

Fig. 2

3. if two separate items belong to the class of the third, they are represented by two disjoint circles inside a bigger circle as shown in Fig. 3.

Ex. Table, Chair, Furniture

Clearly, table and chair are separate items but both are items of furniture. So, they would be represented as in the adjoining figure with circle A representing Table, circle B representing Chair and circle C representing Furniture.

Fig. 3

4. if two items belong to the class of the third such that some items of each of these two groups are common in relationship, then they are represented by two intersecting circles enclosed within a bigger circle.

Ex. Males, Fathers, Brothers

Clearly, some fathers may be brothers and vice-versa. So, fathers and brothers would be represented by two intersecting circles. Also both fathers and brothers are males. So, the diagrammatic representation would be as shown in Fig. 4, with circle A representing Fathers, circle B representing Brothers and circle C representing Males.

Fig. 4

5. if two items are partly related to the third, and are themselves independent of each other they are represented by three intersecting circles in a line.

Ex. Dogs, Pets, Cats

Fig. 5
