the actuator. The actuator is a small, rectangular metal box that is mounted to the engine. It is connected to the cruise control system by a cable. The actuator is responsible for moving the throttle cable when the cruise control is engaged.

1. To begin the process, you first need to disconnect the battery. This is to ensure that there is no power to the actuator. Then, you need to remove the actuator from the engine. This is done by unscrewing the actuator from the engine.

2. Once the actuator is removed, you need to inspect it for any damage. If you find any damage, you may need to replace the actuator. If the actuator is in good condition, you can proceed to the next step.
