Logical Dynamics of Information and Interaction Johan van Benthem, 2011-09-29 This book develops a view of logic as a theory of information driven agency and intelligent interaction between many agents with conversation argumentation and games as guiding examples It provides one uniform account of dynamic logics for acts of inference observation questions and communication that can handle both update of knowledge and revision of beliefs It then extends the dynamic style of analysis to include changing preferences and goals temporal processes group action and strategic interaction in games Throughout the book develops a mathematical theory unifying all these systems and positioning them at the interface of logic philosophy computer science and game theory A series of further chapters explores repercussions of the dynamic stance for these areas as well as cognitive science

Johan van Benthem on Logic and Information Dynamics Alexandru Baltag, Sonja Smets, 2014-08-27 This book illustrates the program of Logical Informational Dynamics Rational agents exploit the information available in the world in delicate ways adopt a wide range of epistemic attitudes and in that process constantly change the world itself Logical Informational Dynamics is about logical systems putting such activities at center stage focusing on the events by which we acquire information and change attitudes Its contributions show many current logics of information and change at work often in multi agent settings where social behavior is essential and often stressing Johan van Benthem s pioneering work in establishing this program However this is not a Festschrift but a rich tapestry for a field with a wealth of strands of its own The reader will see the state of the art in such topics as information update belief change preference learning over time and strategic interaction in games Moreover no tight boundary has been enforced and some chapters add more general mathematical or philosophical foundations or links to current trends in computer science The theme of this book lies at the interface of many disciplines Logic is the main methodology but the various chapters cross easily between mathematics computer science philosophy linguistics cognitive and social sciences while also ranging from pure theory to empirical work Accordingly the authors of this book represent a wide variety of original thinkers from different research communities And their interconnected themes challenge at the same time how we think of logic philosophy and computation Thus very much in line with van Benthem's work over many decades the volume shows how all these disciplines form a natural unity in the perspective of dynamic logicians broadly conceived exploring their new themes today And at the same time in doing so it offers a broader conception of logic with a certain grandeur moving its horizons beyond the traditional study of consequence relations

Logic in Games Johan Van Benthem, 2014-01-24 A comprehensive examination of the interfaces of logic computer science and game theory drawing on twenty years of research on logic and games This book draws on ideas from philosophical logic computational logic multi agent systems and game theory to offer a comprehensive account of logic and games viewed in two complementary ways It examines the logic of games the development of sophisticated modern dynamic logics that model information flow communication and interactive structures in games It also examines logic as games the idea that logical activities of reasoning and many related tasks can be viewed in the form of games In doing so the book takes up the intelligent interaction of agents engaging in competitive or cooperative activities and examines the patterns of strategic behavior that arise It develops modern logical systems that can analyze information driven changes in players knowledge and beliefs and introduces the Theory of Play that emerges from the combination of logic and game theory This results in a new view of logic itself as an interactive rational activity based on reasoning perception and communication that has particular relevance for games Logic in Games based on a course taught by the author at Stanford University the University of Amsterdam and elsewhere can be used in advanced seminars and as a resource for researchers

Logic and Information Edwin Mares, 2024-06-30 This Element looks at two projects that relate logic and information the project of using logic to integrate manipulate and interpret information and the project of using the notion of information to provide interpretations of logical systems The Element defines information in a manner that includes misinformation and disinformation and uses this general concept of information to provide an interpretation of various paraconsistent and relevant logics It also integrates these logics into contemporary theories of informational updating probability theory and rather informally some ideas from the theory of the complexity of proofs The Element assumes some prior knowledge of modal logic and its possible world semantics but all the other necessary background is provided

Monotonicity in Logic and Language Dun Deng, Fenrong Liu, Mingming Liu, Dag Westerståhl, 2020-12-16 Edited in collaboration with FoLLI the Association of Logic Language and Information this book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the Second Interdisciplinary Workshop on Logic Language and Meaning TLLM 2020 held in Tsinghua China in December 2020 The 12 full papers together presented were fully reviewed and selected from 40 submissions Due to COVID 19 the workshop will be held online The workshop covers a wide range of topics where monotonicity is discussed in the context of logic causality belief revision quantification polarity syntax comparatives and various semantic phenomena in particular languages

Logic, Rationality, and Interaction Davide Grossi, Olivier Roy, Huaxin Huang, 2013-10-01 This book collects the papers presented at the 4th International Workshop on Logic Rationality and Interaction LORI 4 held in October 2013 at the Center for the Study of Language and Cognition Zhejiang University Hangzhou China LORI is a series that brings together researchers from a variety of logic related fields Game and Decision Theory Philosophy Linguistics Computer Science and AI This year had a special emphasis on Norms and Argumentation Out of 42 submissions 23 full papers and 11 short contributions have been selected through peer review for inclusion in the workshop program and in this volume The quality and diversity of these contributions witnesses a lively fast growing and interdisciplinary community working at the intersection of logic and rational interaction
